INVESTIGATION OF WATERWORKS IS UNDER WAY

Council Provides for Special Committee to Act on Woodward's Report.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE ABOUT INVESTIGATION

Communication From General Manager of Waterworks Department Precipitates Debate in Council—Mayor to Appoint Committee.

A communication to council from General Manager Park Woodward, of the waterworks department, regarding the recent muddy water and the report of a special committee, were read to council yesterday afternoon and referred to a special committee of council members to be appointed by the mayor, none of the members of the committee to have been connected in any way with recent investigations of the waterworks department.

This committee is to take up the communication of General Manager Woodward and hear from anybody who wishes to appear before it, and make a report to council whether or not any further investigation of the waterworks department is deemed necessary.

The communication of General Manager Woodward is printed elsewhere in full.

Councilman Longino moved that the report be filed.

Councilman Martin said that he believed a full and fair hearing should be accorded the general manager of the waterworks and he moved that the communication he referred to the council committee on waterworks.

Councilman Hancock moved that it go to the special committee which has been acting with the water board in the expenditure of the bond money.

Councilman Terrell moved that the whole matter go to a special committee of five who had no connection with any waterworks investigation.

Councilman Huddleston said he could not see any use in referring the communication to any body. He moved that an appropriation of $500 be made for a hydraulic engineer to tell the people what was the matter with the waterworks department.

There Had Been an Emergency.

Councilman Harman said his committee had served to the best of its ability. He had no personal feeling in the matter and was a warm friend of Colonel Woodward. The city had been confronted with an emegency, the people were drinking muddy water and the special committee had tried to get clear water as quickly as possible.

Councilman Grant said that his criticism against General Manager Woodward, he now believed, to have been unj. He had said that the water department was to blame because it did not put more pressure on the pumps several weeks ago; but since he had made the criticism he had ascertained that the general manager had asked permission to put on more pressure and had been turned down both by the water board and the consulting committee from council. He could see no use for any further investigation.

Councilman Martin moved that the matter be referred to the committee of the whole.

Councilman Longino said that the affiar had been in the nature of a dogfall. The muddy water was now clear, and there it should rest.

"The cause of the muddy water," said he, "is the city having a plant that is entirely inadequate. I have never been any special friend of Colonel Woodward's, and I don't suppose he is a friend of mine, but I can't see where he has been to blame in this matter. The truth is, there is a good deal of politics mixed up with this matter."

Councilman Taylor said that he believed it was the duty of council to fix the blame for the muddy water on somebody.

Mayor Pro Tem. Quillian resigned the chair to Councilman Roberts, and took the floor. He said Colonel Woodward in his communication sought to place the blame for muddy water on the council.

Woodward Not to Blame.

"I want to say, in justice to Colonel Woodward," said Aldermian Quillian, "that ever since I have been in council for four years he has been doing all he could to get the council to make an appropriation for a new water main from the river. Every time he was turned down. He has told us again and again that the plant is too small, and we did not heed. I remember that a committee on which I served with Alderman Peters recommended to council that a new main be laid, and our report was turned down. An administration two years ago, which was antagonistic to the waterworks department, ruied the city, and water bonds could not be secured."

Alderman Quillian moved that the communication of Colonel Woodward be referred to a special committee of five to be appointed by the mayor, and that no member of that committee be any councilman who has served on any previous committees connected with the waterworks department, and that the committee report on whether any further investigation is necessary.

A vote was taken on Councilman Martin's motion to refer the communication to the committee of the whole, and the motion was lost.

Alderman Quillian's motion was put, and the vote stood: Ayes, 13; nays, 5, and the chair declared that the motion had been adopted.

A motion by Councilman Terrell to appropriate $1,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary for the employment of an expert hydraulic engineer to inspect the waterworks system was laid on the table.

The mayor will appoint the special committee of five today and the investigation will begin some time this week.

PYTHIAN HEADQUARTERS MAY COME TO ATLANTA

Offices of Insurance Department May Be Moved From Chicago.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS HANDLED EVERY YEAR

Seventy-Five Persons Employed in Clerical Department Which Will Require Large Amount of Office Space—Three Other Cities in the Race.

Atlanta stands a good chance of getting the headquarters of the insurance department of the Knights of Pythias, employing an office force of seventy-five persons, requiring 6,000 square feet of office space, and handling $2,000,000 a year, accordng to H. Cronheim, of this city, and Hon. T. J. Carling, of Macon, who returned yesterday from Chicago, where the former had attended a meeting of the superintendents of the insurance department and the latter the regular quarterly meeting of the board of control, of which he is the chairman of the finance committee and one of its most influential members.

Sure to Leave Chicago.

Mr. Cronheim states that it was definitely decided to move the headquarters of the insurance department of the order from the city of Chicago to some other city. The only qualification necessary is that the city selected must not have less than one hundred thousand population. The board is composed of nine members, and it takes five votes to select the place to be moved to.

Indianapolis, Washington and Atlanta were placed in nomination, but neither city could receive the necessary five votes, and the matter was deferred to the next quarterly meeting of the board, to be held in October. In placing Atlanta in nomination, Mr. Carling paid a compliment to the desirability of this city for the home of the insurance branch of the order, and he thinks that, in the final show-down, Atlanta will stand as good a chance as any of the other cities mentioned, as several of those favoring other cities favor Atlanta as second choice.

The membership of this part of the order is now in the neighborhood of ninety thousand. It has assets of nearly two million dollars, and the cash handled during the year is over two million dollars.

What Atlanta Would Get.

The clerical force numbers nearly seventy-five persons, and the coming of this important financial institution to this city would not alone give employment to a considerable number of persons, but add over two million dollars to the bank deposits, besides adding to the population through the addition to the inhabitants of the city of the officers of the association and their families.

When the board meets in October it is believed that other cities will be added to the list that will make efforts to secure the location, and every inducement will be offered to secure a favorable consideration of their claims.

New Castle, Ind., had a delegation before the board, offering five years' rent free and 2 per cent interest on the daily bank balances; but, as this city only has about twelve thousand inhabitants, it failed to come up to the requirements that the place selected must have not less than a population of one hundred thousand.

While other cities will make an effort to be favorably considered, it is believed that the three cities mentioned stand the best chance.

Both Mr. Carling and Mr. Cronheim think that Atlanta can make as good a showing for the location as any other city.

GREAT DAMAGE BY WATER SPOUT

CITY COUNCIL FAILS TO ACT ON EXTENSION

Report Will Be Discussed on the First Monday in August.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE CAUSES LIVELY DEBATE

In Committee of the Whole Council Decides to Postpone Action Until the First Monday in January, but Changes the Date Later.

The report of the special committee on the extension of the city limits was taken up in council yesterday afternoon, and action postponed until the first Monday in August.

In the committee of the whole, council voted to postpone action on the report until the first Monday in January, but when the action of the committee was reported to council that body decided to take up the matter in August.

There were three motions before council, one to adopt the report of the committee of the whole postponing action on extension until the first Monday in January, one to postpone until the first Monday in September and the third to postpone until the first Monday in August.

On motion of Councilman Longino, the roll was called, and each councilman voted for the month he liked best. It was not exactly parliamentary, but it was unique and satisfactory. The vote stood:

For August—Curtis, Terrell, Martin, Huddleston, Chosewood, Mangum, Pomeroy, Grant, Hancock, Longino, Roberts—11.

For January—Holland, Hirsch, Peters, Beutell, Pearce, Styron, Taylor, Harman, Key—9.

For September—Glass—1.

The chair declared that August had won the day, and the report on Greater Atlanta will come before council the first Monday of next month.

Maps and Four Reports.

When council went into the committee of the whole Councilman Pomeroy submitted a map showing three new boundaries for Greater Atlanta—that first made by the committee of forty-two and two by the special committee. He also submitted four different reports, so that council could vote on each proposition separately.

Before the merits of any of the propositions could be entered into, Alderman Holland moved that the whole matter be postponed indefinitely. He said that he made the motion because there were sections of the city as it now stood in which people had paid taxes ever since the war, and had never got any sewers, lights, paved streets or water.

Alderman Peters seconded the motion.

Alderman Quillian wanted to know why a postponement was asked for.

Alderman Peters said that the reason was that the city might not be in a financial condition next year to take on more territory. He recited the fact that new schools to cost $138,000, a new pump and the auditorium had to be paid for.

Councilman Pomeroy said that the city had each year paid for certain new enterprises, and next year the annexation of more territory could be easily provided for. The extra expense next year, he said, would not be more than what the Washington street viaduct had cost this year.

Councilman Taylor remarked that the city had never caught up with West End financially since that town was annexed.

A Financial Crossfire.

There followed a cross-fire between Alderman Peters and Councilman Pomeroy about finances when each began asking the other questions beginning with the words, "have you lost sight of——"

Alderman Beutell moved that action be postponed until the first Monday in September.

Alderman Holland seconded this motion, and said that he knew of many things which the third ward wanted and might not get if there was too much hurry about extending the city's limits. He mentioned, among other things, the foot bridge from Decatur street to Oakland cemetery.

Councilman Harman took the floor and said:

"As a friend of extension, for I want the whole thing taken in, Decatur, Kirkwood, East Point, Oakland City, Edgewood and all, I move that we postpone action until the first Monday in January.

Councilman Longino moved to make it the first Monday in August.

The vote on Councilman Harman's motion was as follows:

Ayes—Holland, Hirsch, Peters, Key, Beutell, Chosewood, Mangum, Pearce, Glass, Styron, Taylor, Grant, Roberts, Harman—14.

Noes—Quillian, Curtis, Terrell, Martin, Huddleston, Pomeroy, Hancock, Longino—8.

The committee of the whole adjourned, and when council convened the report of the committee was turned down, and the motion of Councilman Longino adopted to postpone action until the first Monday in August.

The president recently entertained Admiral Yamamoto at Oyster Bay, where the "thoroughly good understanding between the two governments and the fundamental friendliness between the two nations" was discussed and confirmed.—News Item.

17 MEN TRIED FOR LYNCHING

Each Person Accused Is Being Tried Separately.

JOHN JONES IS IDENTIFIED

As Leader of the Mob That Took John Johnson Out of a North Carolina Jail and Put Him To Death.

Monroe, N. C., July 15...—The trial of Jihn Jones for lynching John W. Johnston in Anson county a year ago, was begun in the superior court by Judge Peebles today. There are seventeen persons indicted for the crime, but the case of Jones was selected by the solicitor, as it is understood to be the plan to try each of the prisoners separately.

At the opening of the trial a motion to quash the indictment and a plea in abatement were overruled. A jury was obtained in two hours.

Sheriff Bogan, of Anson county, was the principal witness for the state. His examination in chief was finished before court adjourned.

Sheriff Bogan, who is also jailor for Anson county, positively identified the prisonet as one of the men who broke in the jail, took Johnson out and hanged him. After telling about a mob forcing the door of the jail and entering it, securing the keeper and taking the prisoner from the cell, the witness was asked:

"Did you recognize any one in the crowd?"

"Yes, sir, I saw John Jones."

The court: "Tell what you saw Jones do."

"He was standing in the yard with a gun in his hands, near the man who fired at me."

"Did you see him afterwards?"

"Yes, in the jail, where he was when Johnson was taken from the cell."

"aWs Jones disguised?"

"No sir."

"How long have you known him?"

"A number of years."

"Did you recognize any one else?"

"I recognized little Henry Kendall, W. C. Dean, Tom Johnson and Seeke Lewis."

"What became of John Jones when the crowd carried Johnson from the jail"

"I did not see him after the crowd left. They all went away together."

All the men mentioned by the sheriff as having been seen in the jail are under indictment.

Miss Alice Bogan, a daughter of the sheriff, was the first witness. Her testimony did not differ from that of her

BULLET STRUCK A BYSTANDER.

Holmes Shoots at Leslie, but Hits Butler.

Griffin, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—John Holmes, Jr., and Walter Leslie engaged in an altercation, as a result of which the former shot at the latter, but the ball went wild, and took effect in the ankle of Green Butler, a bystander, and amputation of his foot may be necessary. The difficulty arose over a $3 debt that Holmes owed Leslie and refused to pay. Holmes was arrested by Sheriff Head.

CLEAR WATER NOW PUMPED INTO THE CITY

Water Was Turned Into the Filters Early Yesterday Morning.

BOTH VALVES GAVE WAY IN TWO PUMPS AT RIVER

General Manager Woodward Was Notified Yesterday Morning That Water Was Over 23 Feet in Reservoir—He Ordered Water Turned Into the Filters.

The water at Hemphill Station was turned into the filters yesterday morning and within the next two or three days the people of Atlanta will have clear water again.

In the center of the city the water was clear last night.

When General Manager Park Woodward was notified yesterday morning that the water in the reservoir was 23 feet 2 inches deep, he instructed Engineer Collier at Hemphill Station to let the water flow into the coagulating basin and from there through the filters.

It was only a short time before the clear water basin was filled with Chattahoochee river water, clarified and purified.

The clear water was at once pumped into the main that brings the water into the city, but as the main and all the pipes were filled with the muddy water which had to be removed by use in different parts of the city, Engineer Collier calculated that it would be about three days before clear water would flow from the faucets.

Robert E. Milligan, manager of the New York Continental Jewell Filtration Company, who is stopping a while in the city, spent the greater part of Sunday at Hemphill Station, inspecting the filters. He made a written report which is printed elsewhere in a statement which General Manager Woodward made to council yesterday afternoon.

Two Pumps Break Down.

The general manager stated yesterday that the two Gaskell pumps at the river, which were put on extra pressure last Wednesday, had temporarily broken down by the valves leaking, and that they had to be put out of service for a day in order to put in new valves. The Holly pump at the river was put into service under a pressure of 110 pounds and was kept going until the Gaskell pumps were ready for work again.

The general manager stated that the Gaskell pumps had been used for 14 years and were unable to stand a steady pressure of 120 pounds for several days. The breakdown, however, was not serious and was repaired without much trouble.

The water department is working hard to get ready for the new main which is being laid from the river to Hemphill Station. The entire ditch will soon be cut and the pipe will be laid as fast as it is received, which will be at the rate of about 120 feet a day. The total length is 5,500 feet.

WHY DREYFUS LEFT THE ARMY.

He Thought He Was Not Given Proper Advancement.

Paris, July 15.—The Patrie today says the real reason for the recent resignation from the army of Major Alfred Dreyfus, the former captain of artillery, who was sentenced on a charge of treason to imprisonment on Devils island, which by General Picquert, the minister of war, refused to give him the rank of lieutenant colonel. According to this newspaper, Dreyfus thought that in addition to receiving back pay for the years he spent on Devils island and the decoration of an officer of the legion of honor, he should be promoted to the rank he would have held had he continued to serve in the army. General Picquert thought it would be impolitic to reopen the entire affair by making this promotion and therefore Dreyfuse resigned. Dreyfuse has not as yet issued any statement.

DR. RAMSAY FOR RICHMOND.

Charleston Pastor Elected by Grace Street Baptist Church.

Charleston, S. C., July 15.—A dispatch was received in this city tonight to the effect that the Rev. Dr. D. M. Ramsey, pastor of the Citadel Square Baptist church of Charleston, had been elected to the pastorate of the Grace Street Baptist church, Richmond, to succeed the Rev. Dr. C. S. Gadner, resigned. Dr. Ramsey is out of the city tonight, and it is not yet known what action he will take in the matter.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Home of Swamp-Root.

noon today, while the Georgia's crew were at target practice off Provincetown, in Cape Cod bay. In some manner, as yet unexplained, two bags of powder became ignited, and in the terrific flash that followed the entire turret crew, consisting of three officers and eighteen men, were enveloped in fire, and received horrible burns, one officer and five men dying before the ship reached port.

Four other men received minor injuries, whose names were not given out, and who were not taken off the ship.

Explosion in After Turret.

The explosion occurred in the after turret, where the men, under command of Lieutenant Caspar Goodrich, son of Rear Admiral Goodrich, commandant of the New York navy yard, and Midshipmen Goldwaithe and John T. Cruse were operating the eight-inch guns.

The guns in the forward turrets had finished eight rounds of practice, and the guns of the after turret had fired one round. Two cases, as the big 100-pound bags of powder are called, had just been sent through the ammunition hoist, and were in the arms of the loader, whose name was withheld by the ship's officers.

The loader stood at the breach of one of the eight-inch guns, already to insert the charge. At this instant the turret was seen to be smoky and two men, who stood near the loader, saw a black spot on the bag, indicating that the charge had ignited and was smouldering. The loader discovered the spot at the same instant, and threw himself forward on his face, at the same time shouting a warning to his turret mates. The other men, who had seen the shot, were Erich and Hansen, and they also threw themselves on the floor of the turret. Before the other men in the turret could understand what caused the loader's cry of warning, there was a blinding flash, as the burning powder exploded. Flames, smoke and nauseous gases filled the little superstructure in which more than a score of men were confined. As the powder was not confined, there was no report, nor did the vessel suffer any injury, but every nook and cranny of the turret was filled with flames.

Every Man Terribly Burned.

The loader, who was, of course, nearest the powder, was terribly burned, as was every other man in the turret, with the exception of Erich and Hansen, who although scorched, escaped with injuries much less severe than the others.

Blinded by the smoke and flames, choked by the acrid, penetrating gaseous fumes, and maddened with pain, the men screamed in agony. Some staggered blindly up the ladder to the hatchway in the top of the turret, while others crept along the turret floor, begging piteously for assistance.

Lieutenant Goodrich and Seaman Maleeck became crazed, staggered up the iron ladder to the top of the turret and then threw themselves, headlong, into the sea in a despairing effort to choose death by drowning in preference to death by slow fire.

When the smoke of the burning powder had cleared away the shipmates of the unfortunate men rushed to their assistance, and the suffering sailors were lifted out of the fire-blackened turret, and were quickly conveyed to the ship's hospital, where their burns were dressed by the surgeons.

In the meantime Lieutenant Goodrich and Seaman Maleeck had been rescued by a launch that was returning from an inspection of the target.

The surgical staff of the Georgia was soon reinforced by the surgeons of the other vessels in the fleet, who had been informed of the accident and summoned to the scene.

Ship Not Damaged.

An examination of the turret, after the accident, failed to show that any serious damage had resulted to the ship.

Immediately upon learning the details of the accident, Captain H. McCreary, commander of the Georgia, notified Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, commander of the squadron, of what had occurred. Rear Admiral Thomas ordered an investigating board to examine into the causes of the accident. Until this board makes its report the real cause of the explosion will be in doubt, and it is uncertain even that the board will be able to determine definitely what ignited the powder. Two theories are entertained. One belief is that a spark from the discharge of the guns floated back into the turret through a gun port and settled on the powder cases. Another theory is that the spark that caused the trouble came from the smoke stacks of the ship and floated through the gun ports.

As soon as he received the news of the disaster, Rear Admiral Albert Snow, commandant of the Charlestown navy yard, made complete arrangements for the reception of the injured. The naval hospital at Chelsea was prepared for the sufferers and ambulances were furnished by the naval hospital, the soldiers home and the cities of Boston and Chelsea.

Not until a half hour before the Georgia came up to her dock at the navy yard was it known that there had been any fatalities.

On the way across Massachusetts bay Midshipman Goldthwaite succumbed to his tortures, and a little later death ended the sufferings of Turret Captain Thatcher and Seaman Burke, Thomas Miller. Seaman Hamilton died while the ship was approaching the navy pier.

Georgia Arrives with Victims.

When the Georgia arrived at the navy yard dock about 4:45 o'clock, a great crowd was awaiting her, as well as a large corps of newspaper men and three priests, the latter believing that they might be called upon to administer the consolations of the Roman Catholic church to dying sufferers of that faith.

With the exception of the officers and the priests, however, no one was allowed upon the dock. A detachment of marines, armed with fixed bayonets, kept the crowd at a respectable distance and no one was allowed to pass down the pier. As soon as the ship was made fast to the dock, five ambulances drove up to receive the injured men.

The sufferers were born down the gangplank on stretchers and placed in the ambulances which carried them to the naval hospital, but a short distance away.

Two wards were set aside on the second floor of the hospital for the injured, and Lieutenant Goodrich was cared for in a separate ward. A message from Rear Armiral Goodrich in the afternoon requested hourly bulletins on the condition of his son, and they were sent to various points along the railroad line to be delivered him on the train, as he hurried toward Boston, where he was due at 10 o'clock to night.

A message also came from Midshipman Goldthwaite's parents in Kentucky, asking if their son was alive and if he would live until they could reach him. The return message conveyed the information that he was dead.

The relatives of the dead have been notified that the bodies are at the hospital and asked what disposition shall be made of them. If any are not taken away, they will be buried in the graveyard near the shipyard.

Living and Dead Terribly Burned.

Both the living and dead were found to be terribly burned. Three of the men were burned beyond recognition. Their eyes were burned out and faces, bodies, arms and legs, blackened.

Soon after the men had been placed in their cots, in the ward, it was seen that Lieutenant Goodrich, Pair, Walsh and Thomas had but a short time to live. Six doctors and attendants watched constantly at the bedside of Lieutenant Goodrich, who was barely alive.

Several incidents were told of the coolness and heroism of some of the men just after the explosion. Chaplain Charlton was the first officer to reach the turret. The first man he found was Midshipman Cruse, who was terribly injured. He would not allow the chaplain to do anything for him, but said: "Let me alone; I'm all right. Look after those other fellows."

In one or two other cases, also, he met with the same spirit of self-sacrifice.

The national colors floated at the the peak of the Georgia, as she steamed up the harbor. As the ship made fast to the navy yard dock, the flag at the peak was lowered and the flag at the stern run up to the top of the staff. A few moments later every flag in the yard was half-masted, while the other vessels in port also lowered their colors.

As soon as the last of the dead had been removed from the ship, preparations were made for sailing. Word had been received from Washington ordering the ship back to the target grounds and tomorrow the Georgia will resume target practice. The Georgia sailed away at 6:06 o'clock.

Naval Accidents Recalled.

Washington, July 15.—Aside from their deep concern over the injuries suffered by the unfortunate turret crew of the Georgia, the officers at the navy department were a great deal cast down when they learned of the accident, as it tended to shake the confidence that had rested for more than a year in the perfection of the regulations so carefully framed with a view to safeguarding human life in the turrets.

April 30, 1904, a terrible accident happened on the battleship Missouri, when, through a "flare back," five officers and twenty-six enlisted men met their death. On that occasion investigation revealed that the cause of the accident was the insertion of a new charge in the breech of one of the big 13-inch guns before the burning gases left by the previous charge had fully escaped from the gun. The new charge was exploded and burning fragments of powder and cloth casing dropping into the handling room below in the neighborhood of the magazines, endangered the whole ship. It was on that occasion that Captain Cowles distinguished himself by entering the handling room, which was filled with suffocating gases, and there was imminent danger of a great explosion of the magazines and carrying out in his arms several injured sailors. A naval board was appointed after that which recast the firing regulations and provided automatic air blasts to prevent flare backs, and it was thought that every precaution had been taken that prudence could suggest.

Explosion on Kearsarge.

But just two years later to a day there was another explosion in the 6-inch turrent of the Kearsarge whereby three men were badly injured. The accident occurred through a sailor handling an iron extractor so as to make a short circuit in the electrical current which set fire to the loose powder. Again a board went to work and changed the location of the switches in the turrets and provided for insulated covering of such metal tools and again it was supposed that safety had been assured. Admiral Brownson, chief of the bureau of navigation, summed up the common belief of the navy when he said that he was shocked and surprised, for he believed that the department had adopted every precaution possible, but that ignition in such cases was impossible.

It is understood at the navy department that the Georgia had just completed her preliminary target practice and was entering upon the record practice. She had already made some remarkable scores and had given general satisfaction. This vessel is one of the second division of the Atlantic fleet. The ships were on what is known as the Barnstable range near Providence, just inside of Cape Cod.

The navy department officers expressed confidence tonight that the dispatch of the Georgia with the Atlantic fleet on its projected cruise to the Pacific coast will not be canceled.

Midshipman Faulkner Goldthwaite, who died as a result of his injuries, and the only commissioned officer among the six who died, was born in Calvert, Tex., on May 24, 1883, and entered the naval service as midshipman from the state of Kentucky on June 8, 1903. After serving the full fours years' course at the naval academy he was, on March 1, 1907, ordered to the United States steamship Georgia.

NEGRO ENTERS A HOME; IS PUT UNDER ARREST

One of the most daring acts that has come within the knowledge of the police occurred last night about 11 o'clock when Charles Bell, a negro, deliberately entered a well-lit house at 11 East Ellis street a few minutes after two of the ladies of the house had left the front porch. The prompt action of B. L. Branan, who was sitting on the porch, in a dark corner, in getting up and shutting the door after the negro, resulted in his capture by the gentlemen in the house, and he was turned over to the police.

The house at 22 East Ellis street is a boarding house, conducted by Seaborn White.

Officers Bairfield and Haslett responded to the telephone call from police headquarters, and placed the negro under arrest, charging him with disorderly conduct.

TUSCALOOSA PEOPLE ARE LOYAL.

They Express Confidence in Insane Asylum Management.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., July 15.—A meeting of the Tuscaloosa board of trade tonight, largely attended by business and professional men, passed resolutions of confidence in the Alabama Bryce Insane hospital, whose management has been criticised by former nurses and patients and welcoming the investigating committee of the legislature. The resolutions declare that "the faith of its immediate neighbors in the probity, humanity and efficiency of the hospital is evidenced by the fact that this county sends to it far more than its proportionate quota of patients; that we believe the hospital does now and has always deserved the admiration and the confidence with which it is regarded by the people of the state and the alienists of the nation."

LIVELY CAUCUS BY THE PROHIS

Mr. Persons Says He Will Fight Section of Bill.

MEET AGAIN ON WEDNESDAY

Thirty-one Members of the House and Senate Present at Prohibition Caucus Last Night—Much Discussion but Little Action.

After wrangling for an hour and half, thirty members of the house and senate and two outsiders, who met in caucus for the purpose of outlinging the campaign which is to be waged in the house of representatives to pass the Hardman-Covington-Neel prohibition bill, adjourned last night at 10:30 o'clock to meet at a second caucus on Wednesday at the same time and place.

There was evidently a little disappointment among the staunch supporters of the bill by the absence of so many professed supporters of the measure, and ever and anon the voice of Mr. Wright was heard—for the meeting was executive—beseeching those leaping early "to remain a little longer until important matters could be settled."

Mr. Alexander, of DeKalb, started the argument by urging that some provision be made for the sale of sacramental wine, and that a provision be made for the purchase of whisky for medicinal purposes.

This brought on continued comment.

"Why, yes," came one voice, "I always keep a quart at home for medicinal purposes."

"I want to know where I can get it lawfully," put in another.

"We all want it—for medicinal purposes," spoke up a third.

Then the unmistakable voice of Mr. wright was heard: "Gentlemen, if you allow this liberty, how can you tell when a physician prescribes this 'medicine' whether it is for a bellyache, a backache, or an eyeache. We must not allow this bill to go into the house with any loop holes or excuses for assaults, which I know are coming."

Mr. Covington, of Colquitt, whose tone is never mistaken, followed, and said: "We must look after the sacramental wine. I have recently received a letter from a minister, who stated that if we fixed it so a man who sold wine to a church for medicinal purposes was prosecuted for the sale that it would bring upon the law unending ridicule."

It was finally agreed to make no provision for the purchase of this wine, and it was explained "that we will just let the deacons furnish the sacrament."

Will Fight This Section.

When that section of the senate bill was read which allows physicians to prescribe alcohol in certain instances, Mr. Pearsons, of Monroe, led the opposition to this measure. For ten minutes he stormed against the abuses attendant upon this "loop hole," declaring that there were some physicians who would not hesitate to use this loop hole to abuse it.

He declared that it would make a barroom out of every small drug store in the state, especially where the physicians owned an interest, or all of the drug store on which the prescription was drawn. It was while he was excoriating this section of the original senate bill and amendments that Mr. Cook, of Thomas, arose and said:

"Gentlemen, let us cut out all of this wrangling and adopt, as the sense of this meeting, the Hardman senate bill as amended, and refer the section under discussion to a committee composed of Messrs. Wright, Covington and Persons for final adjustment." All voted for this motion, except Mr. Persons, who states that he will fight the section before the house.

Mr. Neel, of Bartow, presided as chairman, and Mr. Persons, of Monroe, as secretary.

Those present were: Messrs. Adkins of Dooly, Wise of Fayette, Brown of Carroll, White of Madison, Kendrick of Talliaferro, Alexander of DeKalb, Mundy of Polk, McMahan of Clark, Neel of Bartow; Duggan of Washington, Haywood of McDuffie, McWilliams of Henry, Pope of Dade, Culium of Schley, Cook of Thomas, Young of Troup, Callendar of Catoosa, Parrish of Berrien, Atkinson of Morgan, Ellison of Harris, Burkhalter of Tattnall, Daniel of Jenkins, Strickland of Pike, Senators Cowart, Williford and Overstreet, Solicitor General Thomas, Jackson of Jones, Senator Hardman, Persons of Monroe, Burwell of Hancock, Covington of Colquitt, and Wright of Floyd.

Joe Hill Hall, it is stated, will lead the fight for the anti-prohibition forces.

St. John, N. B., July 15.—A dispatch received here today stated that the town of Hartland in the northern part of New Brunswick, was practically destroyed by fire today, the loss being placed at $250,000. The fire was believed to be of incendiary origin.

The building where it started had been saturated with oil and the fire apparatus tampered with.

When the fire department attempted to despond to the alarm it was found that the hose had been cut.

Hartland is on theSt. John river about fifteen miles north of Woodstock and some 120 miles from this city.

GUARDING RULERS' SECRETS.

Kaiser Uses Waterproof Letters and Other Monarchs Are Very Careful.

There is a sense in which monarch have no secrets. In the nature of things they are compelled by the necessities of their position to take some one into their confidence with respect to almost every detail of their daily life. But for the most part these confidences are jealously guarded, and in a hundred and one ways the public curiosity has to satisfy itself with more or less plausible "guesses at truth."

To take an example, the last will and testament of Queen Victoria has never been disclosed, as the law of probate does not apply to the sovereign of the realm. For severelal years before her demise the society gossips used to profess an intimate knowledge of its contents; they knew how many folios it occupied, the exact number of codicils, the color of its binding, and other irrelevant facts. But all their predictions have been falsified by events, and although it is sometimes declared that many persons about the court are familiar with its chief provisions, there are probably not a half a dozen people, besides her late majesty's own children, who have any real knowledge about it, and they will never tell. Even to this day, says Cassell's Saturday Journal, the public is entirely in the dark as to the provisions of the will of the Prince Consort and it is purely a guess that the chief legatee was his august widow.

One veteran monarch, to the writer's knowledge, conducted his private business with his London agents through the medium of a young Englishman, whose duties were quite unsuspected even by his own relatives. Whenever he came across the channel he used to put up with a linen draper, whose acquaintance he formed in his boyhood, and by this means his movements were kept secret. If any one had inquired his business, he would have produced a case of commercial samples, and offered to open an account.

King Edward carries at one end of his gold albert a gold key which opens his private writing desk, and there is no duplicate. All state papers, however, are kept in dispatch boxes until transferred to the safes in the secretariat, and of these the keys are kept by Lord Knollys. When his majesty has quitted his personal apartment, no servant is allowed to enter until an assistant secretary has destroyed the contents of the waste basket, the blotting pads and even the printed wrappers of newspapers received from every capital of Europe. It is an unwritten law that the private secretary shall not indulge in a gossipy diary after the manner of Samuel Pepys—he must, of necessity, keep a daily record of bare facts—and certain courtiers, including the maids of honor, are required as a condition of their service to enter into an obligation of the same kind.

All royal telegrams pass through St. Martin's-le-Grand, and are manipulated by a special operator, who is reserved for this duty. Unlike public messages, no duplicates are kept, and the original messages, in certain instances, are promptly returned to the palace, after a note has been made of the number of words for the purpose of account. The cipher codes which are used between the foreign office and the embassies abroad are not employed for the personal messages of the kig, nor is any system of cryptic writing usual between monarch and monarch.

The German emperor incloses all his private letters in waterproof envelopes of a special make. He is believed to make freer use of secret devices in corresponding with his ministers and others than any other European monarch, and there is no doubt that his private safes contain a mass of secret intelligence, strategic memoranda, made by his own hand, and other matter which, in this country, are left to the departments responsible for such things. It is understood that he keeps no private diary, but the Empress Augusta has been accustomed ever since her marriage to commit her thoughts on current affairs to writing, and each January the diary for the previous year is locked and preserved in her jewel safe.

The czar of Russia has a heavy burden to bear by reason of the suspicion with which he is compelled to regard even his most intimate courtiers. He is known to keep a private record to which no one besides the empress has access, and there is no doubt that many things which, in happier surroundings, would be freely discussed with his courtiers, are shared by the empress alone. His absolute control of the treasury enables him to conduct his personal finances in the greatest secrecy.

NEGRO RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Slayer of Conductor Mason Reported To Have Been Lynched.

Augusta, Ga., July 15.—It is reported in both Tennille and Sandersville, according to long distance messages, that Dennis Bouyre, the negro who killed Conductor Mason, was located at the John Mays place, a mile and a half from Chalker, and riddled with bullets. It is said his body contained four bullets—the number of shots fired by Captain Mason—and that he was in almost a dying condition.

The marshal of Tennille states that he cannot confirm the report of the lynching, but knows two posses were on either side of the Mays plays searching for the negro at 7:30 o'clock.

An Arctic Heat Record.

(London Cor. of The New York Times.)

The warmest places in Europe this morning wre within th Arctic circle. Lapland also was genial, with a temperature of 70 degrees, which was warmer than London, where the thermometer at 8 a. m. registered 56 degrees. Iceland was several degrees warmer than many places on the Irish and Welsh coasts.

The only really fine weather was in the south of France, in northwest Norway and in a few places in Germany. There were moreover, no signs of the approach of the looked-for anti-cyclone, which alone can save the situation and restrain the rain-bearing, cold-producing cyclones that have been sweeping across the British Isles all the summer.

No fine weather is possible until a readjustment takes place as regards the relative position of these important players in the meteorological game.

GREEKS APPEAL FOR PROTECTION

Riot at Roanoke, Va., Laid Before Secretary Root.

GOVERNOR SWANSON ACTS

Virginia Chief Executive Tells the State Department That Greeks Will Be Protected—Greek Colony Huddled in a Room.

Roanoke, Va., July 15.—There have been no further arrests of alleged members of the mob which Saturday night wrecked all the Greek restaurants and shoe shine parlors. The four men arrested Saturday night are still in jail. The case has been set for trial on Thursday of this week.

Judge John W. Woods, of the corporation court, today ordered a special grand jury which will meet tomorrow to hear evidence and investigate the affair thoroughly. The penalty in this state for rioting, or damaging a building is from two to five years in the penitentiary. Both branches of the city council will meet in extraordinary session tomorrow night for the purpose of considering what course to take in the matter.

Greeks Huddled in Room.

Last night the Greek colony, numbering more than 10 Opersons, staid together in a large room over one of the wrecked restaurants on Jefferson street, but they were not molested. Today the proprietors of the restaurants and their employees have gone about the streets without hindrance. None of the places have reopened. It was said today that an attache of the Greek consulate at New York would arrive this afternoon to look into the situation, but that personage has not yet come. Last night the entire police force and the chain-gang guards were kept on duty until a late hour as a precaution, but nothing unusual transpired.

James D. Johnston, attorney for the Greeks, tonight stated that all the restaurants will reopen for business tomorrow with the exception of the one in which the trouble started. The proprietor of this one has left town.

Swanson to Protect Greeks.

New York, July 15.—I. C. Maximos, acting consul general of Greece at New York, today made representations to Secretary of State Root at Washington, protesting against the action of the mob at Roanoke, Va., on Saturday night, when several Greek restaurants and places of business were wrecked during the progress of a riot, and asking that the Greeks be given the fullest possible protection.

Washington, July 15.—The state department today received a telegram from Acting Greek Consul Maximos, at New York, transmitting a report of the rioting at Roanoke, Va., Saturday night, and invoking the protection of the state department. The message was immediately transmitted to Governor Swanson at Richmond with the request for a report on the subject. The governor's reply reached the department at the closing hour and was of a most assuring character. He expresses full confidence in the ability of the Roanoke municipal authorities to maintain order and promises that in any event he himself will look after the safety of the Greeks in that city.

Governor Swanson Acts.

Richmond, Va., July 15.—Governor Swanson today communicated by long-distance telephone with Mayor Joel L. Cutcshin, of Roanoke, to inquire as to the present state of affairs in that city after Saturday night's rioting. Mayor Cutcshin reported all quiet. The governor instructed the mayor, that, should rioting begin again and there was any need of state aid, to telegraph at once. He said that peace must be kept, and that the state was prepared to enforce the law.

FOR KIDNAPING AND FOR MURDER

Four Members of "Black Hand" Are on Trial.

SECRETS OF THE ITALIANS

Will Be Revealed by the Trial in Louisiana—One of the Prisoners Tried to Kill Himself to Escape Trial.

Hahnville, La., July 15.—The jury which will try three men and a woman for the murder of little Walter Lamana was completed today. Many talesmen were excused because they objected to bringing a verdict which might mean the hanging of Mrs. Campisciano, the woman prisoner. Owing to the fact that this trial is expected as far as possible to furnish an example which will check Italian blackmailing, great care was exercised to secure the most intelligent class of jurymen. Seven of them are planters. The jurors are:

P. A. Keller, Jules Keller, Paul Hymel, Albert Landesch, Clifton Blanchard, Charles Boudreaux and L. A. Keller, planters; Oscar Labat and W. W. Madere, carpenters; Joaquin Crespo, farmer; Marcel Gassen, merchant, and H. J. Vial, storekeeper.

The trial will open at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

The prisoners were kept in the local jail tonight without any extra guards. They appear to be in absolutely no danger of violence from mobs. There are six prisoners:

Frank Gebbia and his sister, Nicolina, who will be tried next week for the same murder, having been brought here as witnesses; Tony Costa, who attempted suicide in New Orleans last night, although uninjured, looked very much like an isane man when he appeared in court today. His eyes were wild, and he talked as if dazed.

FALSE SWEARING IN HAYWOOD CASE

Another Witness for Defense Accused of Perjury.

INSANE STREAK IN ORCHARD

Defense Introduces Evidence to Show That Orchard's Grandfather Had a Mania for Confessing Imaginary Crimes.

Boise, Idaho, July 15.—Another warrant charging perjury against a witness, who has testified for the defense in the case of the state of Idaho against William D. Haywood, was issued this morning. C. W. Aller, formerly a telegraph operator and ticket agent at the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad, at Cripple Creek, is charged with the offense by the prosecuting attorney of Ada county. He will be arrested tonight. Both Aller and McGee, who was arrested on the same charge, will be given an opportunity to furnish bonds, and the preliminary hearing will be set to take place within the next few days.

Insane Streak in Orchard.

Eleven witnesses in rebuttal were examined today in the Haywood trial. Harry Orchard reappeared on the stand and was asked a few questions as to his acquaintance with some of the witnesses of the defense, who have testified as to his movements. On being turned over for cross-examination, he admitted that his uncle, Peter McKinney, committed suicide by hanging thirteen or fourteen years ago. Counsel for the defense asked Orchard if this uncle was not insane before he killed himself, and also tried to show by the witness that his maternal grandfather was insane, his mania being imaginary crimes committed a long time ago in Ireland. Orchard denied all knowledge of the grandfather, but admitted that his uncle was demented.

The entire afternoon session was taken up with the examination of witnesses, who contradicted the evidence given by C. W. Aller, who testified for the defense in support of the charge of a conspiracy against the Western Federation of Miners, in which it is alleged the Mine Owners' Association, the Citizens' Alliance and the Pinkerton Detective Agency were concerned.

What Allen Swore.

Aller swore that he saw Orchard and D. C. Scott together at the depot of the Florence and Cripple Creek railway on a Sunday, about three weeks prior to the explosion at the Independence depot on the 6th day of June, 1904. Scott, this afternoon, swore that he was not in Cripple Creek at the time, and a number of witnesses corrobrated this. As a result of this rebuttal testimony information was sworn out after court adjourned charging Aller with perjury.

The explosion at the residence of Fred Bradley in San Francisco was again under consideration today, the state undertaking to show that the effect of an explosion of illuminating gas could not have been that described in the depositions taken for the defense in San Francisco. The manager of the Boise Gas Company, C. D. Lampson, who was at one time a resident of New York, qualified as an expert. He discredited the position that gas could be ignited by the glow at the end of a cigar. He was cross-examined at considerable length by Mr. Richardson, and showed a close technical knowledge of gas and its properties, as an explosive. The general effect of his evidence was that the explosion at the Bradley home could not have been caused by gas.

Wordy War Between Lawyers.

Much excitement was caused by a wordy engagement between E. F. Richardson and E. M. Sabine, an attorney. Sabine was engaged in the prosecution of a number of cases in which members of the Western Federation of Miners were charged with crime and conspiracy during the labor trouble of 1903. Mr. Richardson was the defending counsel in these cases. Sabine intimated his willingness to tell many things that Richardson appeared anxious to keep out of the records, and it kept Haywood's counsel busy heading the witness away from dangerous ground. Sabine admitted that Richardson had beaten him, and had cleared his clients, but he managed to get before the jury his opinion that the defendants were guilty, notwithstanding a verdict of the jury to the contrary.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT FOR ENGLISH SPINNERS

A CONFERENCE looking to the entertainment of a large number of English cotton spinners, a hundred are now expected, in Atlanta during the second week in October next, was held in the governor's office, at the state house, yesterday morning, the state, the city and the chamber of commerce being represented at the gathering.

At the meeting were Governor Hoke Smith, J. Wylie Pope, president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce; W. G. Cooper, secretary of that body; R. A. Ransom, Harry L. Schlessenger, E. C. Calloway and C. E. Caverly, members of the chamber of commerce; Mayor Joyner, and Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Association.

During the month of May last, while the International Cotton Association was in session in Vienna, Austria, cablegrams were sent Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Association, by Governor Terrell and the chamber of commerce and by Mayor Joyner, extending an invitation to the delegates of that convention to visit Atlanta October next, during the session of he American Cotton Manufacturers' Association. The cablegrams were read before the Vienna meeting and were received with evidences of favor. Since that time letters have been received in Atlanta, indicating that a large number of the English spinners have been considering the trip as they desire to give the cotton fields of the south a study.

The meeting at the governor's office was for the purpose of taking initial steps to entertain the visitors and to do all that can be done to augment the party contemplating the visit. It was decided that the mayor and the president of the chamber of commerce should name a joint committee to take charge of the details of the work.

North Carolina Governor Will Enforce Railroad Rate Law.

PROSECUTIONS ARE ORDERED

Gov. Glenn Declares Federal Judge Had No Right To Issue Injunction and Calls on State Judges To Enforce the Law.

Raleigh, N. C., July 15.—Governor Glenn tonight announced that he had written every judge and solicitor in North Carolina calling attention to the fact that the railroad rate law is daily being violated by the Southern railway and the Atlantic Coast Lint, that the agents of these roads are responsible, and should be prosecuted criminally.

He declares the law effective since the first of July, and that the circuit court of the United States has no right to interfere by injunction against prosecutions in criminal cases in the state courts and that Judge Pritchard is in error in granting the injunction he did before finding out that the legislative act is unconstitutional and confiscatory.

Poisoned With Diamonds.

The jeweler replaced tenderly in its case the unmounted pear-shaped diamond. "I could kill you with that," he said. "I could poison you with it. You would die in a few hours." "But diamonds are not poisonous?" "Indeed they are, ground up. There have been a number of suicides by diamond dust among gem cutters. Swallow diamond dust, and death will ensue very quickly. The symptoms will be the same as though strychnine had been taken."

Free Medical Advice.

(From The Westminster Gazette.)

A well known London physician at a dinner party one evening was much worried by one who was seeking gratuitous advice. "Do you know, doctor," said his questioner, "I know a man who suffers so terribly with indigestion that at times he can do nothing but howl with pain. What would you do in that case?"

"Well, I suppose," responded the medical man, "I should howl with pain too."

THEATERS.

At the Grand.

For a summer stock company playing repertoire, calling for a change of bill weekly, the George Fawcett Company gave a most creditable presentation of Camille last night.

Probably there is no need of making mention of these facts, but it is realized that under such conditions there are obstacles to overcome; however, all were surmounted in this, the most stupendous undertaking of the company since it has been at the Grand. It is not a play of the same caliber as those of the usual run. Take The Cowboy and the Lady, for instance, and by last night's performance, every one of the cast clearly showed that he or she had given much thought and study to the lines and had very successfully grasped Mr. Dumas' ideas.

Of course the "Divine Sara" has played Camille but that is no reason why others of histronic ability cannot attempt parts in this great emotional drama. Those of the company who were given the leading roles, of which there are three that stand out distinctly, had every chance to demonstrate whether they possessed the art necessary to carry them through such a play as this.

The greater portion of the work falls upon the shoulders, naturally of Camille. This was taken by Miss Wheatly. Another important part is that of Armand Duval, which fell to Regan Hughston. The other one of Count de Varville, impersonated by DeWitt Jennings, and each one of these popular members of the company did splendid work. Every one who saw them last night will in the future give them credit for having talent sufficient for recognition when taking parts of the kind that demand some real art to make them bearable.

Miss Wheatly simply captivated her audience in the death scene when lovers meet again, only for death to eternally separate them.

The mention of these three does not in the least mean a slighting of the others. There was scarcely a hitch in the entire production. The members of the company were well placed but the audience felt a sense of loss that Miss Phylis Sherwood and Miss Conroy did not have such lines that would put them on the stage oftener.

ALEX LYNN.

At the Casino.

The bill at the Casino this week is by far more expensive than the bill of last week. That does not mean that it is better. The fact is merely mentioned to illustrate the difficulties that the management of a vaudeville house has to contend with.

To get right down to the heart of the matter, last night's bill was in every respect inferior to that of last week. There were three really good acts, one mediocre, and two that were frankly and unequivocally tiresome.

The musical selections of Matthiessen's orchestra were splendid, and added no little to the evening's entertainment.

So much for generalities. Now for a bill of particulars:

Haywood, Conroy & Hayward are billed in a "one act comedy" called "Marriage Is Sublime." Just why it is called a "one act comedy" it is difficult to say. The trio worked energetically, but they failed to prove the allegation. They rattled off a string of ancient jokes that were decrepit in Noah's time, but which, more lately, have found their way into Puck and Judge. One of the Haywoods, who did a black-faced act, sang a fairly humorous song.

The Van der Koors, in acts of legerdermain, were very clever. None of their illusions were new, but the comedy element was accentuated to an extent that made the audience forget this fact.

Smith and Baker consumed a lot of time singing and spouting senseless sentences. They attempted to grow funny at the expense of the Southern railroad, but they were about as humorous as one of the Southern's wrecks.

Spango and Leo, aerial comedy-athletes, were good, and received well-merited applause.

Clarke, Bergeman and Mahoney, in novelty and vocal selections, were by far the best in the bill. Their songs were good of the kind, and they danced well.

George Stewart did some clever impersonations, but marred his act by too much extraneous stuff. He is best when imitating.

The moving picture was good, and the intermission was fine!

SIDNEY ORMOND.

At the Pastime.

An excellent bill is being given at the Pastime this week which is greatly pleasing its numerous patrons. Laconda and Laclear, French dancers and singers, are doing a clever turn. The famous Keno troupe of comedy acrobats and barrel jumpers are also meeting with favor.

Money and Kisses.

(From The Columbus Dispatch.)

A man living for the time being in Columbus and who is in the habit of giving his wife a generous roll of bills the first day of every month for her pin money complained the other day that she owed him $2.80 for acting as her caddie while on the golf links during a visit to the sunny south. She demurred, but asked if he would be willing to take the pay in kisses. Although a Benedict of long standing, he still adores his wife, and he agreed to this method of payment.

While they were at breakfast on the first day of the following month he drew out his pocketbook and began counting out various bills of large denomination, while she, with hand outstretched, waited eagerly for the roll, remarking that her last month's allowance was all spent.

"Wait a moment," he said. "I believe I'll give you kisses instead." And the money was stuffed back in his pocket, much to her dismay.

It is only fair to say, however, that later she received both money and kisses.

Too Low!

(From Tatler.)

A well-known sportsman had become very tired of listening to a series of shooting yarns that some friends had been spinning. At last he launched his first and only story that night.

"I went into a field one day to have a shot," he said. "The only game in sight was an immense flock of blackbirds. I should say there were 10,000 in the flock. I fired both barrels, and how many do you think I killed?"

Different guesses were made, ranging from twenty to a hundred birds.

"Not one," said the stranger, "but I went out to look for results and picked up thirty bushels of legs. I had shot a little too low."

Bamboo Sap in India.

In India the sap of the female bamboo is used for medicinal purposes. "Tabasheer," or "banslochan," is sold in all Indian bazars, as it has been known from the earliest times as a medicinal agent. It is also known in Borneo and was an article of commerce with early Arab traders of the east. Its properties are said to be strengthening tonic and cooling. It has been analyzed and has been shown to consist almost entirely of salica, with traces of lime and potash. From its remarkable occurrence in the hollows of bamboos the eastern mind has long associated it with miraculous powers.

A Useful Interview.

(From Youth's Companion.)

Mrs. Newton had been married nearly a year, but she still felt that any question of importance should be answered with Mr. Newton's aid, at least, if not by him in person. One day she rang up his out-of-town office, and her voice had an anxious tone when she replied to his cheerful "Hello!"

"It's like this, dear," said this trusting young person. "I'm way downtown, for I've been shopping, and I've carried Mary's letter, that I meant to post when I started out, all round town with me!"

"Yes," said Mr. Newton as she paused for breath.

"And now I have come in here to this public telephone," went on the eager voice, "for I had just 10 cents left, to ask you whether you thought I ought to get a special delivery stamp for Mary's letter and walk home, or whether I could ride home and let—"

"What—oh—why—of course! I forgot. I did have to drop the dime in this hateful old slot, and now I can't get that stamp, nor can I ride home, either. Well, goodby!"

Baby's Share of Blame.

(From Exchange.)

She had been fitted for two gowns, the total cost of which was nearly $600.

"Now," she said to the saleswoman, "I want you to do me a favor."

"Certainly," was the prompt response.

The customer colored deeply. "I want you to make out the bill partly for gowns for me and partly for baby dresses and a baby's cloak."

The saleswoman was used to the whims of fashionable women, but this was something she was a little slow in comprehending. The customer explained.

"You see," she said, "my husband is very fond of our baby, and if he sees that the bill is partly for dresses for her—well, he won't mind so much."

President Winchell said:

"The Rock Island Railroad Company is out of politics and wants to be in closed touch with business men.

"The Rock Island road feels that we should have nothing to do with politics. We will maintain no lobby in the future in Des Moines, other state capitals or the national capitol at Washington."

IT TOOK TWELVE MEN TO BEAR CORPSE OF 500-POUND WOMAN

NEW YORK, July 15.—Mrs. Margaret McMahon, the biggest woman in New Jersey, is dead at her home in Newark. In order that her body might be taken out of the house this morning for interment, one of the window frames was removed and 16 inches of the brick work at the side of it. It took twelve men to carry the coffin to the street, and as there was not a hearse large enough to hold it, it was conveyed to the cemetery in a wagon. Mrs. McMahon weighed nearly 500 pounds.

One arrest was made today. Smith is in a critical condition.

THOMPSON GETS HIGH POSITION

Made Assistant to President of Southern Railway.

PROMINENT IN GATE CITY

Appointment of J. S. B. Thompson as Assistant to President Finley Gives Atlanta Additional Rank in Railroad World. Rapid Rise of Mr. Thompson.

J. S. B. Thompson has been appointed by President W. W. Finley, of the Southern, to the position of assistant to the president. His headquarters will still remain in Atlanta, a fact which will be learned with fully as much interest as the promotion.

The appointment as assistant to the president gives Atlanta additional prominence in the railroad world, and promotes to a high position one of the best known railroad men in the south.

The official notice of Mr. Thompson's appointment states that his duties will "consist of those assigned to him by the president." Other than that there are no particulars given.

Mr. Thompson is one of the best known and most capable railroad men in Atlanta, where he has been located for a number of years. Since coming to this city he has been conspicuously identified with the business interests of the city, and has aided every movement looking to the material advancement of Atlanta. He has been a director of the Piedmont Fair Association, the chamber of commerce, and other organizations. He is a prominent member of the Capitol City, the Driving and Country Clubs, and has always been prominent socially.

Progress Has Been Steady.

Mr. Thompson, who was born in Culpeper county, Virginia, entered railroad work at the age of 20 years when he became a clerk to the general superintendent of the Virginia Midland railway. Later he was employed in the auditor's office of the Long Island railroad. He returned to the Virginia Midland, and in 1883 was made assistant general freight agent of the company. In 1886 he was promoted to assistant general freight and passenger agent. Thirteen years ago he entered the service of the Southern as superintendent of the first division.

IMPORTANT BILLS ARE INTRODUCED

Alabama Legislature Facing a Very Strenuous Term.

Montgomery, Ala., July 15.—It has been agreed that a bill will be drawn up that will give the governor the right, when he thinks the treasury will permit, to reduce the tax rate of the state. In view of this all the bills for reducing the tax rate will be adversed. There is a hard fight on to cut down the rate, and this seems to be in the nature of a compromise.

Bills have been agreed upon in committee to establish a tubercular sanitarium at a cost of $40,000, to prevent pay-trains running on Sunday, to place express companies, sleeping car companies and steamship companies under direct control of the railroad commission. An anti-trust bill, formed largely to prevent combinations in fertilizer manufacture, has also been reported favorably.

The immigration bill passed at the last session will be repealed, and the manufacture, of nitrogen from lime will be exempted from taxation for ten years.

Bishop Bowman has the distinction of having lived longer than any Methodist bishop. He is well preserved, is seen almost daily on the streets of Orange, N. J., where he walks and he is as much interested in the affairs of his church as when he was ordained in 1839. During his bishopric he has attended at least two conferences in every state in the union. He has traveled around the world twice and has officiated at religious gatherings in Mexico, Europe, India, China and Japan, and has dedicated more than 1,000 churches. He retired from active work six years ago.

ZIMMER REFUSED TO OPEN MOUTH

Dumb Witness Blocks Graft Trial at San Francisco.

WITNESS ORDERED TO JAIL

Unless Zimmer Consents to Testify the State May Fail to Establish Charge That $50,000 Was Paid City Officials by Telephone Company.

San Francisco, July 15.—Emil J. Zimmer, who is a vice president of the Pacific States Telephone Company, when called to the stand today by District Attorney Heney, in the case of Louis Glass, also a vice president of the telephone company, refused to be sworn or to testify and was sentenced to five days' imprisonment for contempt of court. On Zimmer's testimony the prosecution depended to establish the vital claim that Glass approved the disbursement of the $50,000 bribery money, alleged to have been paid to supervisors by Agent T. V. Halsey, $5,000 of which Acting Mayor Boxton has testified to accepting.

Mr. Zimmer turned from the clerk, who was about to administer the oath, and said to Judge Lawler:

"Meaning no disrespect to the court, I have decided not to be sworn. My reason is that the grand jury has seen fit to indict some gentlemen without sufficient evidence and therefore to protect myself I have decided not to take the stand."

Intense silence reigned for a part of a minute. Then Assistant District Attorney Heney sprang to his feet. "This witness," he said in a loud voice, "was advised when he was before the grand jury that he did not consider his testimony as such as would tend to subject him to prosecution for a felony. In view of the fact we consider his conduct at this time as highly improper and we ask that he be instructed to take the oath."

The Angler's Elysium.

According to advertisements all summer resorts are alike. They are the best ever—but if fishing is better anywhere else than it is in "Georgian Bay" we do not know where it is. There is a greater variety of fish in this water than anywhere else, and they are always hungry. No one ever counted the fish in the Georgian Bay, but those that have been caught there have been counted and eaten, and if you read the government reports on fisheries you know that Georgian Bay supplies more fish than any other equal body of water in the world. The only place you can afford to fish is where the fish are numerous, big and delicious in flavor, and that place is Georgian Bay—so the fishermen say. Suppose you send for booklet, issued by Grand Trunk railway system, free, telling about the home of the bass, pickerel, pike and the noble trout family. Address W. EXPLOSION SHOOK TOWN.

Supposed That House of Ill Repute Was Serenaded With Dynamite.

Statesboro, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—The people living in the southern part of this place were thrown in a panic of excitement Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock A terrific explosion was heard at the end of South Main street. Nearly everybody had gone to bed and the whole town was awakened. A large crowd quickly gathered in the neighborhood of the scene. Men, women and children ran out of their houses as if an earthquake had come. Many of them were in their night clothes, while others were only partly clad.

A thorough investigation was made by the marshal and citizens, but nothing definite could be learned.

Many theories were advanced. Some said it was in the Irish quarters who came here to work on the S., A. and N. railroad; others claimed it was a suicide, but the theory most generally accepted, however, is that a crowd of boys had gathered around a house of some repute in that locality and other boys being on the inside and would not allow them to come in, they exploded a stick of dynamite.

The marshal took several sticks of dynamite away from the boys the past week. The dynamite has been coming here to be used by the construction force of the Savannah, Augusta and Northern railway and in some way the boys have been getting it.

SAW MILLS WILL BE SHUT DOWN

TO REMAIN CLOSED A MONTH

Georgia-Florida Saw Mill Owners Take Radical Action.

Atlantic Beach, Fla., July 15.—By a vote of 27 to 7 the Georgia-Florida Saw Mill Association today decided to shut down all saw mills owned or operated by members of the association for one month, beginning August 1.

This action was taken on account of low prices of lumber, the mill men claiming that the high prices paid by them for timber lands and the prices received for their output causes them to operate at a loss. They will endeavor to secure similar action by all other yellow pine lumber associations in the southeast.

JAPANESE SPAT ON "OLD GLORY"

Infuriated Americans Came Near Lynching the Yellow Man.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—T. Yoni, a Japanese employed as a wiper in the Southern Pacific shops in this city, narrowly escaped serious injury at the hands of an outraged mob of American workmen yesterday. Yoni was wiping an engine on which had been placed two small American flags. While wiping the engine Yoni turned and deliberately spat upon one of the flags. His action was seen by another workman who immediately pulled Yoni from the engine to the ground, at the same time acquainting the other workmen in the building of Yoni's act. A crowd quickly surrounded the Japanese and he was being roughly handled when he managed to elude his assailants and escaped.

COMER SIGNS RESOLUTION.

Charges of Cruelty at Alabama Insane Asylum Will Be Investigated.

Montgomery, Ala., July 15.—Governor Comer has signed the resolution to investigate the charges of cruelty at the state insane hospital as passed by the legislature. Senators Spragins and Hayes have been named as members of the committee with three to be named from the house. Speaker Carmichael will select these tomorrow. He said he had to await the reconvening of the house in order to get a rule changed that he may name Mr. King, the man who filed the charges, as chairman of the committee. As the rule stands this could not be done, it prohibiting nominations of men for investigations who come from adjoining counties.

A score or so of affidavits have been filed alleging that patients were cruelly treated in the event of conflicting fatal wounds on one or two occupants; also that patients were left in cold halls naked all night, and at times became so hungry they fished pieces of bread from the swill barrels.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

When the blood becomes infected with unhealthy humors the effect is shown on the skin in the form of pimples, rashes, eruptions, or some other type of skin disease. These humors circulating in the blood, come in contact with the delicate tissues and fibres of the skin and produce irritation and inflammation, and often excessive itching and burning. Trying to cure skin troubles with external applications is treating the effect instead of the cause. Such treatment perhaps allays some of the itching and discomfort, but does not reach the blood where the real source of troubles lies. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only cure for humors in the blood. S. S. S., a gentle acting, safe blood purifier, is the proper treatment. It goes down into the circulation and neutralizes the humors and removes them from the blood. S S. S. supplies the blood with the fresh, healthy properties necessary to sustain the skin and keep it free from disease. S. S. S. cures Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, pimples, boils, rashes, and all other skin affections and diseases, because it purifies the blood and removes the humors which are responsible for the trouble. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

COMMITTEES OF HOUSE PASS ON MANY BILLS

THE supporters of the Joe Hill Hall anti-pass bill, which was recommended, by substitute, by the committee on railroads last week, won a victory yesterday when the committee reconsidered its action.

The coup was planned and executed by Mr. Adams, of Chatham, one of the youngest legislators in the general assembly. Monday morning he circulated around the hall of the house of representatives a petition requesting Chairman Covington to recommit the report from his committee to the house back to the committee before it was presented for acceptance or rejection.

This petition was soon signed by a majority of the committee on railroads and shortly before noon Chairman Covington announced that it would be recommitted to the railroad committee in the afternoon.

All of the Hall advocates were present when Mr. Adams, of Chatham, put the motion "that the committee reconsider its action recommending the 'Hall bill by substitute.' "

The motion was put by the acting chairman and the thunderous ayes proclaimed the victory won, and Acting Chairman Bean, who was presiding, so announced it.

Because there was a visiting delegation of railroad men in the committee room to speak on another bill it was agreed not to take up the anti-pass bills, but to make them a special order for a meeting of this committee at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

With the action of the committee the status on the anti-pass bill is where it was when the committee meet and adopted a substitute on Friday.

The bills vary in this particular:

The substitute prohibits the issuance of passes to any one except the employees of the railroads.

The Hall bill prohibits the issuance of passes to state and county officials only.

Alexander Turned Down.

The bill which was introduced by Mr. Alexander, of DeKalb, seeking to have the law governing arbitrations amended so that the comptroller general might go outside of the railroad commission to secure a representative for the state on such boards has received an unfavorable report from the committee on ways and means, to which it was referred.

This action was taken yesterday afternoon, when that committee met at the call of Chairman Wise, of Fayette.

The action of the committee will, in all probability, kill the bill most effectually, as the house has little time left for thrashing out the work which is delegated to committeemen.

The committee reported favorably the bill introduced by Mr. Wise, of Fayette, calling for the retirement of $100,000 state bonds on the 1st of January, 1908

Banks and Banking.

The committee on banks and banking, of which Mr. Atwater, of Upson county, is chairman, will in all probability make a report to the house on Wednesday, as to the newly drafted banking laws, which it will recommend for passage at this session of the general assembly.

The committee has been in session for several days now, amending and striking out certain sections of the bill in an effort to get a uniform series of laws which will not only protect the depositors of the banks, but the stockholders as well.

With a view of giving all of the aid possible, there have been one or more prominent Atlanta bankers present at each session of the committee to give them ideas as to the needs in this direction. Among them have been: Joseph McCord, of the Third National Bank of Atlanta; E. H. Thornton, of the Neal Loan and Banking Company of Atlanta; Captain J. W. English, of the Fourth National Bank of Atlanta; W. L. Peel, of the Maddox-Rucker Banking Company of Atlanta, and W. S. Witham, of the Witham Banks of Georgia.

The committee is inquiring particularly into the causes of the recent bank failures in Georgia, in an effort to remove these recent causes.

Telegraph Delivery Penalties.

The law which was repealed in 1892, placing a penalty upon telegraph companies for failing to deliver any sort of message received by them promptly, was recommended for favorable passage by the general judiciary committee yesterday afternoon. This bill was drawn by Messrs. Dykes, of Sumter, and Slater, of Bryan, and introduced on the first day of the session. Under its terms a penalty of $50 is placed upon the telegraph companies for failing to deliver, promptly, any telegram received and receipted for by them. In addition, it prescribes that all messages shall be delivered within a radius of one mile from the office received.

Another bill by these same legislators was that which prevents any insurance company from being relieved of paying any insurance money following a death or loss because the insured failed to take up any note given in payment of the premium. Both of these bills attracted widespread interest and a favorable report upon them practically insures their passage.

To Protect Engineers.

In an effort to have legislation enacted which will better protect their lives and limbs while in the business of railroading, a large delegation of locomotive engineers appeared before the special judiciary committee yesterday afternoon and spoke in favor of the Tift bills introduced in their benalf.

These bills by the representative from Dougherty are as follows:

1. To punish as for a misdemeanor any engineer who runs or attempts to run his engine while in an intoxicated condition.

2. To compel all roads to place and operate on engines, both passenger and freight, electric headlights while running on the main lines of the state.

3. To compel all engineers operating trains in this state before being allowed such important positions to serve in addition to an apprenticeship of one year in the shops, three years as an engineer of a switch engine.

It was contended by this committee of visiting engineers that this much legislation was necessary for their protection. Chairman Walker, of Thomas county, referred the bills to a special committee composed of Messrs. Dean of Floyd, Donaldson of Decatur, and Tift of Dougherty, with the request for an early report.

County School Commissioners.

Dr. Mark Johnson, former candidate for state school commissioner, created a distinct sensation in the committee on education yesterday afternoon, when he charged that "90 per cent of the county school commissioners of Georgia are in collusion with the monumental book trust of the United States."

This statement was made by him during his impassioned speech in favor of the bill by Mr. White, of Madison, calling for the election of county school commissioners by the people.

"If these men who hold the school system of the state within the palms of their hands can not be elected by a direct vote of the people they should not hold office" said he.

In opposition to Dr. Johnson there appeared the state school commissioner, Professor T. J. Woofter, of the University of Georgia faculty; Professor J. N. Rogers, assistant state school commissioner, and Professor A. J. Richie, former county school commissioner of Rabun county.

The committee was unable to agree upon the matter, and set the bill for a continued special order on Wednesday. Before adjourning the committee recommended favorably the local bill by Mr. Dunbar, of Richmond, which seeks to compel compulsory education in the county of Richmond.

Committee of Senate.

The general judiciary committee of the senate held a short session yesterday morning.

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock was set for the hearing of all bills in reference to railroad matters. At this time will be considered the bill to increase the railroad commission of Georgia, the anti-pass bill by Senator Borne and others.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the committee will consider the Ducktown resolution, and also the bill dealing with telegraph companies for the non-delivery of telegrams.

Increase Adjutant's Salary.

By a unanimous vote the house committee on military and military affairs yesterday morning voted to recommend favorably the bill by Mr. Smith of Campbell providing for the reorganization of the national guard of Georgia so that the salary of the adjutant general becomes $3,000 instead of $2,000.

The committee was organized with Mr. Barrow of Chatham as chairman and Mr. Smith of Campbell as secretary.

As soon as the committee was ready for business Mr. Smith explained his bill, and moved that it be recommended for favorable passage by the house. This action was taken with a unanimity which spoke volumes for the man at the head of the Georgia state troops, General A. J. Scott.

General Scott has been identified with the state troops for many years, and through his services as assistant to General S. W. Harris during the administration of Governor Terrell made himself extremely popular with the officers and men of the state militia, so that when Governor Smith was elected the chief executive was urged to make him in fact the head of the state troops.

This action was taken by Governor Smith, and has met with unanimous approval.

The duties of the adjutant general's office have increased threefold since the enactment of the Dick law, which made the state troops a component part of the national guard. The salary all along has been looked upon as niggardly, and there is little doubt but that the assembly will reward the officer who has served the state so long and faithfully on what might be called "half pay."

Prohibition Meeting at Cornelia.

Cornelia, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—At an enthusiastic mass-meeting of the citizens of Cornelia on Monday morning resolutions, offered by Rev. A. J. Johnson, pastor of the Baptist church, heartily indorsing the Hardman-Covington bill were adopted. Several speeches were made in favor of state prohibition and the resolutions adopted were signed by 90 of the leading citizens of our town and about forty women who were present at the meeting. The petition and resolutions were sent to our representatives, J. C. Edwards.

Seven People Hurt in Trolley Wreck

Chicago, July 15.—Seven people were injured today, one fatally, when a street car jumped the track at Ninety-seventh street and collided with a telegraph pole. All of the passengers were thrown to the floor and bruised and cut by flying glass. James McCormick will die.

Prohibition Wanted at Dahlonega.

Dahlonega, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—The following resolutions have been read and accepted in the churches of this town:

"Whereas, there is now pending in the general assembly, a bill aiming to secure state prohibition, and

"Whereas, we believe that we have made our farthest possible advance in anti-whisky agitation and achievement along the line of local option,

"Therefore, beit resolved: First, That we, the congregations of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches, this day assembled, do respectfully urge our general assembly to as take such action as will secure state prohibition at as early a day as possible.

"Resolved, second, That copies of these resolutions be sent to our representative, Hon. W. S. Huff, and our state senator, Hon. Joseph W. Boyd.

"Resolved, third, That we send copies, for publication, to our local papers, and to the Daily Atlanta Journal, Constitution and Atlanta Georgian and News.'

Signed by D. L. Cook, Baptist; W. J. Worley, Methodist; B. P. Gaillard, Presbyterian.

Disastrous Storm in Missouri.

Kansas City, Mo., July 15.—The western half of Missouri was drenched by a terrific storm last night. Reports received today indicate much damage corn fields, bridges and culverts in the lowlands in many instances being washed out. Trains from all directions into Kansas City are delayed.

Election Ordinance for Oklahoma.

Guthrie, Okla., July 15.—The constitutional convention today adopted the election ordinance calling the state election for September 7, when state officers, as well as the constitution, will be voted upon. Governor Frantz will issue an election proclamation at an early date.

A Fair Catch.

So strongly had the theory and practice of ambidexterity appealed to the burgesses and freemen of Pushville that they called a meeting to urge the necessity of bringing up children to use both left and right hands with equal facility.

"I defy any one in this audience to mention a single action that I can perform with my right hand which I cannot do equally well with my left hand," cried one of the speakers.

There was a short pause, and then a voice at the back of the nall cried:

"Try putting it in your right hand trousers pocket, gu'nor."

Isn't a Special Hosiery Price a Very Interesting Thing in Summer Time?

For, add to the wearing the merciless washwoman, the item of Hosiery for yourself and children in summer time becomes one of the "big" little items of expense.

Of course if the shaving off a price came by way of some sacrifice of quality, or if black had to be less reliable, reductions would count for little in the long run.

But quality never changes when prices go down in this stock. "Fast black" that's affected by price reducing is not worthy of the name. Standards are stable in this stock.

TEMPTING NATIONAL INTERFERENCE.

And now Virginia joins with those states which, by their acts or omissions, are inviting national interference with their internal affairs.

In Roanoke, Va., a mob takes up a citizen's quarrel over a 5-cent sandwich and, unrestrained, proceeds to wreck and demolish fourteen places of business owned by citizens of a friendly foreign government, whose sole offense was that they were Greeks.

These Greeks were there, as they are everywhere, quiet, peaceable and law-abiding. They expected, as they had the right to expect, and as every law-observing person, foreign or otherwise, has the right to demand, the full protection of the law. However much the good citizens of Roanoke may deplore the outrage, it is evident they were unprepared to cope with the mob, which even went so far as to attack the mayor who sought to appeal to them to desist from their lawlessness.

It is not so long ago that a New Orleans mob lynched a number of Italians, an outrage which was made the subject of international negotiations upon complaint of the government of Italy. Even in the recent Atlanta riot, in which those directly involved were all citizens of Georgia, there arose possibility of international trouble as the result of the wrecking of a Greek's place of business by the mob.

The most serious incident of this sort has been furnished by California, where, with tension practically already at white heat, crowds of hoodlums have been allowed, unchecked, to vent their spleen against harmless and law-abiding Japanese merchants. It was these attacks, and not the disputed school question, which furnished food for the inflamed jingo war talk, as a result of which the two governments find themselves confronted by a very delicate, if not a grave, situation.

There is but one outcome to this sort of thing, if it is persisted in, and that is interference by the federal government, at least for the protection of subjects of foreign powers, if not for the purpose of preserving that peace and good order which the states sometimes signally fail to maintain.

At least half a dozen times within the last few years has the national government been subjected to embarrassment, often of a serious nature, as the result of some uncontrolled outbreak in which the property or the lives of subjects of such foreign governments have been destroyed. Not only have these outbreaks occurred, but the states in which they have occurred have made feeble effort to detect and punish the guilty parties. This laxity of justice is food to the mob spirit, and until one or two mobs are severely dealt with and punishment meted to each member of them, the chance of recurrent outbreaks will ever remain present.

It would seem a severe remedy were the federal government, on the ground of its duty in the protection of subjects of foreign powers, to take hold of one or two such mobs, and indict, prosecute and sentence their members in the federal courts. Nothing would bring forth more loudly the cry of state's rights. And yet that is just what the states are tending toward and inviting, and the responsibility, if it comes, will be upon those who failed, either through inability or indifference or mistaken sympathy, to enforce the law.

Unless the states perform their functions in this respect, national interference will come as a matter of necessity, for the United States cannot afford to have their friendly relations with some foreign power brought into doubt every few months as the result of mob outbreaks. The states, where they fail to prevent mob outbreaks, must at least relentlessly prosecute and punish the violators of the law, for if they do not, that it will sooner or later be done by the United States is inevitable.

In common with all good citizens we would deeply deplore government interference in what we have been pleased to consider our personal and home affairs. But we must realize this—and the quicker realization comes, the better—

The mob must be suppressed!

War Would Be a Crime.

That some person, or clique, or corporation is deliberately and systematically attempting to foment trouble between, and embroil the governments of the United States and Japan in a useless war, is becoming every day more clearly apparent.

The slightest incidents have been made to appear large and ominous. An incidental attack upon Japanese restaurant keepers in San Francisco was worked up into an issue calling for diplomatic representations, whereas ordinarily it would be a common street row for a police court judge to pass upon. The exclusion of Japanese pupils—comparatively few in number—from the white schools of California, was brought to the attention of the national government with a request that the state of California be forced to alter its school regulations. Through the active personal efforts of President Roosevelt this pretty tangle was straightened out and California was induced—or coerced—into lowering the bars. Japanese statesmen later expressed their gratification at this happy outcome, having realized all along that under our dual system of government neither congress nor the president, as a matter of legal right, could dictate to a sovereign state in a matter of its local school regulations.

Another incident of that solution was the exclusion of Chinese coolie laborers from the continental territory of the United States. This was a concession to the labor party in California, but agitators made it appear an affront which Japan would surely resent. No ill feeling was engendered, for it was shown that Japan really desired restrictions put upon the importation of her laborers, preferring to use them in Formosa or to have them emigrate to China.

The next move on the checkerboard was the reported recall of Viscount Aoki, Japanese ambassador to the United States, for his reputed indifference and lack of aggressiveness in bringing to the attention of this government the alleged wrongs and discriminations which had been visited upon his countrymen, and the substitution for him of a more radical representative. The effort to exaggerate the foregoing circumstances then appeared as part of the political campaign of a rival Japanese power which sought to oust Aoki. The rumored recall failed to materialize and Viscount Aoki is still at his post endeavoring to suppress the war talk and diplomatically assuring this government that his people have no present grievance.

This rather tedious recital is necessary to an appreciation of the situation that existed when the United States naval board ordered the fleet of sixteen war vessels to the Pacific, which act has been viewed in some foreign capitals as a move preliminary to asserting our supremacy in those waters. In the most extreme view of the case, this maneuver can only be considered an evidence of our wish to avert war, by showing our preparedness as compared with Japan's unpreparedness, instead of a movement to precipitate trouble.

The Constitution, Sunday, adverted to the reasons why war is inadvisable at this time from the standpoint of Japan. That country has nearly reached the bottom of her strong boxes and neither France nor Germany would consent to finance an armed movement against the United States. In a long, destructive war between this country and Japan, the overwhelming superiority of the resources of Uncle Sam, as compared with little Nippon, would make the outcome of such a struggle as certain and inevitable as was the war of Briton and Boer.

Since the close of the Russo-Japanese war, the Japanese people have inaugurated new enterprises capitalized at a half billion dollars and have increased the capitalization of established companies by a quarter of a billion dollars. Commercial sagacity, which is seeking foreign trade and increasing local industries, would be aggressively opposed to plunging the country again into the turmoil and the demoralization incident to a foreign war.

That the substantial business interests of the United States do not want war is very apparent. That there is no popular resentment in America against the Japanese, but, on the other hand, only the friendliest feeling is proven by the expressions of press and people.

But somewhere there is at work a shrewd, systematic attempt to destroy this feeling of international amity and, by exaggerating small slights and fancied resentments, to pave the way for overt acts and create a national sentiment that would sanction open hostilities.

In discussing this phase of the question, The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore, in its latest issue, pillories the conspirators who are seeking to bring about war. It says:

Aside from insanity, only the mind of desperate politics or of cold-blooded commercialism, not blinking at murder under the guise of warfare in furtherance of its ends, can contemplate with aught but horror the possibility of hostilities between the two countries whose natural instincts and circumstances should be effective for lasting peace.

Continuing, it declares that if the "criminal conspirators" are successful in bringing about war, they will have to answer to the charge of plain murder and will not be able to take refuge in "brainstorms, psychic epilepsy or sanctimonious cant."

The actions and utterances of those who would temporarily profit by war may, in the present emergency, be viewed with suspicion.

Chinese Stewards on Pacific Liners.

(From Travel Magazine.)

We sailed from San Francisco, bound for Honolulu, on a ship whose stewards and sailors are Chinamen. Even if all does not go well with the boat's motion in days of storm, one cannot fail to be entertained by these spry sons of the orient.

The costume worn by the stewards is quite remarkable. For ordinary, everyday wear they don white garments that resemble American pajamas in their style of cut and fit. For dinner each evening and on Sundays the white suits are exchanged for light blue garments of the same description—rather an odd livery to our prosaic minds! Of course, every Chinaman preserves a habitual, solemn silence. If, owing to an interesting conversation, the passenger fails to notice the dish with which the table steward is trying to serve him the patient Chinaman stands immovable, with outstretched hand and sphinx-like countenance until attention is drawn to him, after which, his duty done, he slips in silence on his way. Plodding, silently, the sailors attended to their duties with mournful faces that strongly appealed to me. They ate with chop sticks, sitting on their heels the while, and were, in fact, eminently satisfactory specimens in every way.

CAPITOL GOSSIP

A DETERMINED movement is to be made to check any effort looking towards securing the passage by the legislature of a resolution which will grant in indefinite extension of time to the big copper companies of Ducktown and Isabella, Tenn., within which to remodel their plants, so as to prevent the further dissemination of sulphurous fumes, resulting from the present smelting process, over the surrounding country.

A party of prominent citizens from Fannin and Gilmer counties came to Atlanta yesterday with this purpose in view. In the party were W. H. Shippen, who has played a prominent part in the litigation through which Georgia has at last succeeded in securing a redress against these copper companies; Charles Tasker and C. J. Trammell, all prominent lumber men; W. B. Lovingood, a well-known farmer, and Judge O. B. Dupree, of Blue Ridge. Others are expected to arrive today.

In speaking of the matter Mr. Shippen stated that the copper companies had secured signatures to a petition requesting the general assembly to postpone the time at which they are to be required to make the necessary changes in their smelting process to prevent further dissemination of these fumes. It is stated that there are some 6,000 signatures on these petitions. It is alleged that in many instances the signatures were secured by misrepresentation, and that many of them were obtained from parties who cannot read and write, and who did not know what they were signing.

According to the present plan the supreme court of the United States will, upon the application of Attorney General John C. Hart, issue a permanent injunction on October 1, and if the state insists upon it the changes must have been made by that time. Unless the legislature should pass such a resolution as is asked, there is no question that the injunction will be made permanent at that time.

The people of north Georgia counties feel that they have already suffered too much in the destruction of their forests and vegetation, and they do not wish any further extension of time granted. The north Georgia party is here, therefore, to see to it, if possible, that the legislature refuses to pass the proposed resolution granting this extension.

New Railroad Chartered.

The Ocilla, Pinebloom and Valdosta Railroad Company is the latest corporation of this sort to secure a state charter. It was granted by the secretary of state yesterday. The company will be at Pinebloom, in Coffee county. It is proposed to build the new road starting at Ocilla, in Irwin county, and running through Irwin, Coffee, Clinch, Berrien and Lowndes, to Valdosta. The incorporators are B. B., E. F., B. W., J. H. and Charles E. Gray, J. L. Cochran, J. B. O'Berry, B. G. O'Berry, George F. McCranie, Elisha Paulk, J. A. Gaskins and W. P. Moate, all of Coffee county.

Reuben Arnold Appointed.

Reuben R. Arnold, the well-known Atlanta attorney, was yesterday appointed by Governor Hoke Smith as the representative from Georgia upon the commission upon the uniformity of state laws. This commission is composed of representatives from each, or a large number of the states, named by the various governors to confer with regard to existing laws and to devise and recommend such changes as will bring about a desirable state of uniformity in that class of laws which, more or less, concern all of the states.

Anti-Cocaine Bill.

Representative Whitley, of Douglas, has secured from the committee on hygiene and sanitation of the house, a favorable report upon his bill to regulate the sale of cocaine and similar poisonous and intoxicating drugs. If this measure is enacted, and there appears to be no reason why it should not be, it will practically destroy the illegal traffic in these drugs.

The measure is one that was recommended by the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association, and the reputable druggists of the state are all extremely anxious to see it go on the statute books. It makes it a misdemeanor, punishable under section 1039 of the code, for any person to sell, furnish or give away any cocaine, opium, morphine, heroin, chloral hydrate or similar drug, except upon the prescription of a licensed physician, who must give the name of the patient for whom the drug is needed. Excepted from the provisions of the act are all recognized standard drugs and medicines of which these drugs in small quantities constitute an essential ingredient. Doctors, dentists and druggists are, of course, allowed to purchase them, but under no circumstances is any one allowed to sell or furnish such drugs to a known habitual user of them, except a physician who actually has the patient in question under treatment.

Improvement in Crops.

Advices received at the state department of agriculture indicate a decided improvement in the crops of the state as the result of the recent rains and more favorable weather. The improvement has not, of course, been such as to repair the damage done as a result of the bad weather conditions early in the year, but under favorable conditions both cotton and corn, as well as other crops, have taken a spurt, and the outlook now is much more favorable than at any time since planting began. South Georgia reports a splendid cotton crop, and indications from all sections of the state point to an exceptionally fine crop of corn.

Bank Capital Increased.

Under an amendment to its charter granted yesterday by Secretary of State Philip Cook, the Bank of Waycross will increase its capital stock from $50,000 to $150,000. This is only another evidence of the rapidity with which south Georgia is coming to the front financially.

Press Associations Combine.

New York, July 16.—Announcement was made today of the consolidation of the Publishers Press Association, the Scripps-McRae Press Association and the Scripps News Association, under the name of the United Press Associations. It is not intended to serve morning papers, but to confine the service of the consolidated associations to afternoon and Sunday newspapers. The officers of the United Press Associations are:

President, John Vandercook; vice presidents, Max Balthasar, Oliver Hershman, of Pittsburg, and Andrew McLean, of Brooklyn; chairman of the board, H. W. Clark.

Town Wasted by Flames.

Moghilev, Russia, July 15.—Smolyany, a small town in this neighborhood, has suffered severely at the hands of incendiaries. One hundred and fourteen houses occupied by Jews and fifteen tenanted by Christians, as well as seventy shops, have been burned. Several persons perished in the flames.

LETTER SENT TO COUNCIL BY COL. PARK WOODWARD

THE communication sent to council by Colonel Park Woodward, general manager of the water works, was as follows:

Hon. Mayor and General Council, Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen: Your special committee to investigate the water department having made their report on July 11, which report was adopted by you, and this report reflecting as it does on the board of water commissioners and the management of the department, and neither the board or the general manager having been given an opportunity to explain or refute the charges made against the department before the council adopted the report, I respectfully request that you reconsider your action in adopting that report, and for the following reasons:

1. The blame for the present condition of the water works system should be DEFINITELY FIXED—on either the general manager, the water board or the general concil. One of the three is guilty of neglect. All three cannot be held responsible.

2. As the policy of the city council itself is involved in this question, it would seem that by all rules of law or equity, they should not appoint a committee from their own body to make this investigation.

3. Having assumed the right to appoint members from their own body, the membership of said council should have not included men who were known to be prejudiced, and had openly expressed their opinion in council before said committee was appointed.

4. The chairman of the committee should not have been the chief accuser, and the one who asked for the investigation, and who had in no unmeasured terms denounced the management as inefficient before said investigation was ordered.

5. The appointment of the two citizens, Judge Hillyer and the man Shearer, a discharged employee of the water works, also prejudiced persons, was not in keeping with justice, as they had—before investigating the conditions officially—openly expressed themselves as antagonistic to the present management of the water works.

6. Though the general manager of the water department, I was not called before that committee in any way to answer any question that might arise or submit facts or figures touching the matters under investigation. In other words the investigation was held without one of the principal accused being present to show cause, and defend himself in any way, which is a violation of every rule of law and equity.

7. Because as provided by the resolution no hydraulic engineer was placed on the committee, and no engineer present to examine or pass upon technical points, which would bear materially on the subject under investigation, and no member of the committee was competent to intelligently pass on any matter involved.

"Errors Made by Committee."

I will now undertake to point out the errors made by the committee in their conclusion, as shown by their report as submitted.

1. The main feature in this report deals with the question of pressure carried on the pumps at the river pumping station, and it is stated that the pressure of 117 pounds had been maintained for the past two years, and had been as high as 135 pounds and that the pressure had been reduced, which resulted in the reservoir going down, etc. Mr. Harman, a member of the committee, states that from an examination of the "log" of the engineer the pressure from May, 1899, to December, 1904, was from 117 to 125 pounds. Now I respectfully submit that these statements are absolutely erroneous.

I went out to the river station on Friday last and examined the engineer's record carefully, and from that record, the same Mr. Harman got his information from, I have compiled a tabulated statement of pressure carried each month from January, 1899, to July, 1907, which statement I append to this communication.

From the records at this station, a pressure of 105 pounds was carried on the pumps for 1899 and 1900, and 106 pounds for 1901 and to July, 1902 and from August, 1902, to December, 1903, 105 pounds. For 1904 and 1905, 105 opnds. From January to May, 1906, 105 pounds. For June, 1906, 107 pounds, and from July, 1906, to June 30, 1907, 110 pounds.

I submit herewith a statement of the number of times excessive pressure was carried on the pumps, giving dates and pressure carried. This increase in pressure was occasioned by the fact that it was the custom before I took charge of the department to stop the pumps when the river was muddy, so as to save pumping muddy water into the reservoir and when the water in the river was in good condition to speed up the pumps and fill up the reservoir.

It will be observed by examination of the records that pressure of 120 to 125 pounds was carried only fifty-seven times during the interval between January, 1899, to July 1, 1907, or eight and one-half years, and at no time was such pressure carried any great number of days. The regular or normal pressure of 105 to 110 pounds has been carried on at a gradual increase for the last eight and one-half years. As a matter of fact, the pumps have been operated under a greater pressure than contracted for, for years, and to pump required quantity of water for present consumption, pressure would have to be increased considerably; even with the increased pressure which was authorized too late, it is doubtful if the reservoir can be kept supplied until the new main is laid. Increased pressure applied to pumps occasionally and for short duration is not so harmful or with tendency to disastrous results, as continued increased high pressure for any great and continued length of time, of say sixty days or more, especially on pumps which have been in service for fourteen or more years, subjected at times to high pressure.

The management was aware that increased pressure had been carried when only two engines were available or before the third engine was installed, but this was, as stated, when pumps had been out of service for several days and head of water in reservoir low, but never did deem it advisable to carry continuously such high pressure. With the service of a new and additional main, high or excessive pressure will not be required, but an amply supply will be had with nominal pressure.

Under the circumstances and on account of dangers that might arise from carrying high pressure, the management did not wish to assume the responsibility, and therefore consulted with the water board regarding the question of carrying the extra pressure for perhaps several months. Already this very morning the pumps at the river had to be shut down on account of broken pump valves. This will put them out of service today. We are now using the big pump at 110 pounds pressure.

Figures Shown by Pumps.

Mr. Harman, a member of the committee, states as published that the records show that a pressure of 117 to 125 pounds was carried from May, 1899, to December, 1904. If Mr. Harman had asked the engineer to explain his manner of keeping his record of pressure he would have found that from 8 to 12 pounds was added to gauge pressure of pump for suction lift; this is done in calculating duty of pump and total head pumped against, but is not the pressure on the pump, or used in calculating pumpage. To illustrate: The pumps are now carrying 120 pounds. This would mean 132 pounds if entered as heretofore on record, the difference of 12 pounds being added in calculating total head and pump duty. At this station the suction lift varies as the river rises or falls.

In June, 1906, the pressure on gauge showed 105 pounds, to this was added 8 pounds for suction lift, making 113 pounds as entered on record. Since July, 1906, only the actual pump pressure is recorded, and the gauge since then showed 110 pounds and nothing added for suction lift. The pressure in July was increased to 110 over 105 pounds and not reduced as charged. The effort is being made to create the impression that I purposely reduced the pressure which resulted in water in reservoir being low.

These pumps were in operation 1,927 days from January, 1899, to December, 1904, 263 days being deducted for time pumps were idle. Taking the lowest pressure Mr. Harman charges as being used, 117 pounds, and calculating what quantity of water would have been delivered in reservoir through the present 30-inch main, 18,400 feet in length, under a total head of 270 feet, or 117 pounds pressure, in 1,927 days there would have been delivered into the reservoir 23,124,000,000 gallons.

The actual amount pumped from the river during that time was 17,680,120,000 gallons.

Showing an excess of 5,443,880,000 gallons.

The reservoir holds 170,000,000 gallons of water. If this pressure of 117 pounds had been maintained, as Mr. Harmon states, it would have kept the reservoir full, and we would have had over 5,000,000 gallons of water flooding the country. It would have not only kept the present reservoir full, but filled thirty-two more of same size as the one we have. If Mr. Harman wanted to be fair and arrive at the truth, he could have easily gotten any engineer to make the calculation for him and have saved himself from the appearance at least of trying to create a wrong impression, and thereby doing great injustice to the management of the water department.

When I took charge of this department in January, 1896, the daily pumpage from river station was 4,797,888 gallons. For 1906 the daily average was 12,281,983 gallons, and for this year it will very much exceed that figure, and this has been done with the same main we had in 1896. I have repeatedly urged the necessity for an additional main from the river to the reservoir, and the board has urged it before the council, and the present condition is attributable to the fact that this additional main was not laid and has not yet been laid.

In a special report to the board, September 5, 1902, I called special attention to the necessity for certain improvements and additions to the system, and an additional main from the river to the reservoir was urged in that report. In my annual reports for 1903, 1904, 1905 and 1906 I again called attention to it, and President Rice in his reports to council for the same period called special attention to it, and urged that council provide the money to lay this main. All of these reports and recommendations are submitted herewith and made a part of this communication.

In the matter of muddy water, for which we are now suffering, I am not to blame. I call your attention to a communication which was read before your body before the committee was appointed, in which I called the attention of the board of water commissioners and special committee from council to the condition and suggested that the only way to relieve the situation was by increasing the pressure on the river pumps; this they declined to authorize, and I am now condemned for not doing what they refused to authorize. I submit these papers with this communication.

Condition of Filters.

The committee saw fit to state that proper attention had not been given the filters. In reply to this part of the report, I submit a copy of a communication from Robert E. Milligan, general manager of the New York Continental Jewell Filtration Company, on this subject. Mr. Milligan was for ten years chief expert, chemist and bacteriologist of this company, and is now general manager. His report will speak for itself:

Atlanta, Ga., July 14, 1907.—Colonel Park Woodward, General Manager, Atlanta, Waterworks.—Dear Sir: Some criticism of the filtration plant beng implied in the controversy following the improvement bond issue having come to my attention, I took occasion to visit the plant and investigate its present condition. The original plant, consisting of 12 10-foot diameter Hyatt Discharge filters, were installed by us about 25 years ago. While we installed the more recent plant which consists of 8 8-foot by 20-foot New York Horizontal Filters in 1893 the increase in the consumption of water since 1893 has not been compensated for by any increase in the filter plant and your pumping records show that the capacity of these filters have at times been exceeded three times their normal or stated capacity. For your information, beg to state that following the most approved practice in computing the capacities of filter plants, the plant at pumping station No. 2 is as follows:

12 10-ft. Hyatt Discharge Filters, total filtering area	1,200 sq. ft.
8 8 by 20-ft New York S. W. Horizontal, total filtering area	1,152 " "
Total filtration area	2,352 " "

Calculating this area at the rate of two gallons per square foot per minute, we have a total filter capacity of 6,773,760 United States gallons in 24 hours, while as a matter of fact this plant has at times been called upon to filter at a rate of 21,000,000 gallons in 24 hours. Notwithstanding this abnormal condition, my understanding is that the plant has at all times delivered clear, bright and satisfactory filtered water, and my own observation bears this out. This can only be explained by the excessive care and attention the plant must have received to maintain such results. This care is shown also in the mechanical condition in which I find the plant; substantially the plant is in as perfect condition as the day we finished the installation.

My attention was especially attracted by a newspaper report of a recommendation to remove the present sand bed, and renew the new sand, it being alleged that the present sand beds were in poor condition. I investigated this matter carefully and can state positively that the present sand beds are in excellent condition, and would not be improved by new beds. The time, too, necessary to accomplish this would prolong the present muddy water to at least 30 days and cause an expense of approximately $1,000, without any consequent advantage.

While the present capacity is undoubtedly too small for your requirements. It is palpable to any filter expert that in maintenance and operation, the Atlanta filters have received extraordinary attention, and you are to be congratulated upon the excellent condition of the plant.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) ROBT. E. MILLIGAN, Gen. Mgr.

Will Resign if at Fault.

In view of the fact of the false impressions which have been created in the public mind by the unfair investigation, and the report, as made, which seeks to throw the responsibility where it does not belong, I respectfully request that a committee of impartial citizens, not in any way biased on the subject, composed of such representative men as Captain R. J. Lowry, Dr. R. D. Spalding, C. E. Currier, Sam D. Jones and J. K. Orr, be appointed to investigate the water situation, and that they be authorized to employ an expert hydraulic engineer to come to Atlanta and act with them, and make a thorough investigation into the condition of our water works system, and determine what is necessary to put it in proper condition and to fix the responsibility for the present condition we are in.

I will place my resignation as general manager of the department in the hands of the board of water commissioners to take effect immediately upon a decision of said committee and expert that I am in any way responsible for these conditions, on the condition that the members of the committee, who made this examination and signed the report, Alderman Key and Councilmen Grant and Harman, will file with the clerk of council their resignations to take effect immediately if the decision of the committee is in my favor.

The Journal has advertised that they will give $500 toward securing the services of an expert hydraulic engineer. Let the council supplement this with a sufficient amount to secure a first-class man.

In conclusion, gentlemen, you have unintentionally done the water department a grave injustice, and you should not hesitate to do all in your power to correct the impression that has been made by that report. Respectfully submitted,

PARK WOODWARD,
General Manager.

HE WAS HAVING TROUBLE ABOUT MARRIAGE LICENSE

A STORY turned up yesterday morning, with one of the scenes laid in the ordinary's office, in which several old saws were applicable, such as, "Be off with the old love before you are on with the new;" "Do not trust every new-found friend;" "Look before you leap;" "Be sure you are right then go ahead;" "Marry in haste and repent at leisure."

A man about 30 years of age walked into the ordinary's office yesterday morning about 11 o'clock and, yanking a piece of paper from his coat pocket, he said:

"This here is the marriage license I bought last Saturday. I want to say in the first place, that I gave a fellow who said he was my friend $2.50 with which to buy the license, and now I understand that it cost only $1.75. I am just out 75 cents on that score, and that fellow has pocketed it. I think I will take out a warrant for him and even up that transaction. But that's not all the trouble. The girl who had a half interest in this piece of paper, and who was going to marry me, has changed her mind, and I thought maybe you all would take the license back and give me my money. You see, I was married once before, and my first wife is still living, and the other girl, the one I was going to marry and didn't, got wind of the first wedding and she is kind of skittish about bigamy. You see, after I had married the first time I found out that my wife had a husband already, and I quit her. Now I want to know if my marrying a woman who had a husband gives me the right to marry again without the trouble and expense of going into the courts?"

He paused and fingered the license as he waited for a reply.

He was informed that the money for the license could not be refunded; that the only way he could get even with the friend who kept the change was to take out a warrant, and that he would have to get a lawyer to tell him what marital rights he had under the existing circumstances.

He left, taking the license with him.

BOTH MEN DRUNK; MURDER FOLLOWS

Buford Hollis Kills Joe Bellow in Tennessee--Parties Prominent.

Nashville, Tenn., July 15.—Buford Hollis shot and instantly killed Joe Bellow at West Point, Tenn., yesterday. Both parties were drinking and became involved in a dispute over going in swimming. Bellow wanted Hollis to go in bathing, but the latter demurred, and this led to angry words, when Hollis drew a pistol and fired one shot, which penetrated Bellow's heart, causing instant death. Hollis fled, and is still at large. Both the young men are members of prominent families.

Sheriff Smallwood and posse from Lawrenceburg followed the trail with bloodhounds, but lost it after several miles.

JUDGE DREWRY EXONERATED

Committee of His Church Members Complete an Investigation of Charges of Mrs. Castino.

An investigation begun some time ago by the members of Shiloh Baptist church into the charges made by Mrs. Louise Castino, of Boston, against Judge Drewry, of Griffin, Mrs. Castino threatening to sue the minister for breach of promise, has been completed and the minister exonerated.

Judge Drewry is the ordinary of Spalding county and also minister of the Shiloh Baptist church. Some time ago Mrs. Castino came to Atlanta, and after an interview here with Judge Drewry, consulted an Atlanta lawyer with a view of bringing a breach of promise suit against him.

The investigation by the church was made at the request of Judge Drewry. On June 8 he tendered his resignation as pastor of the church. On July 14, on motion of S. H. Zellner, the church declined to accept resignation.

Barfield is a strong anti-association man, and has been warned to join or suffer the consequences. Some time ago his tobacco was taken from the barns and thrown into a pond.

SENATE WAITS ON AUTO BILL

Senator Felder's Measure Was Not Put on Passage.

The senate was called to order yesterday morning at 11 o'clock by President Akin. After prayer by the chaplain and confirmation of the journal, the disfranchisement bill, introduced by Senator T. S. Felder, was read for the second time.

Senator Felder then asked that his automobile bill be read for the third time and put upon its passage.

To this Senator Akin, having left the chair, with Senator Camp presiding, objected, and it was agreed to postpone action upon the measure until it could be printed. It will probably come up again today.

New Bills in Senate.

The following new bills were introduced:

By Senator Wilkes—To amend the charter of Norman Park.

By Senator Sikes—An act to provide punishment for larceny, adding the value of property to fine under present misdemeanor law.

The following local bills were read for the third time and passed:

SAYS BILL WILL CRIPPLE SMITH'S ADMINISTRATION

Reuben Arnold the Principal Speaker Against Prohibition Before Committee.

WILL CONCLUDE HEARING AFTER TODAY'S SESSION

House Committee Hears Number of Speakers For and Against the Proposed Measure to Prevent the Sale of Liquor in Georgia.

With the galleries crowded with women and the floor of the house filled with men, the house temperance committee resumed its meeting yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and listened for three hours to arguments both for and against the prohibition bill. D. G. Fogarty, of Augusta, Reuben Arnold and Morris Brandon spoke against the bill, and Judge George Hillyer, Walter Dunson, E. C. Galloway, H. Y. McCord, R. A. Broyles, Dr. John E. White and J. T. Graves spoke in favor of the bill.

The meeting of the committee was adjourned at 5:30 o'clock to meet again today at noon or earlier, at the call of the chairman.

It is generally conceded that the committee will report the bill favorably to the house, but it has been rumored that those who oppose the bill will filibuster on the floor of the house in order to prevent its immediate passage.

Chairman Wright, of the temperance committee, announced at the beginning of the meeting that at the first applause on either side of the question the galleries would be cleared, and for that reason excellent order was observed throughout the entire meeting.

A feature of the discussion was the statement of Reuben Arnold that the passage of the prohibition bill would seriously cripple the Hoke Smith administration, as it would begin the new year with a deficit of three-quarters of a million dollars.

Fogarty Favors Jug Law.

D. G. Fogarty, of Augusta, was first introduced to the committee, and suggested as a fair solution to the present problem that an anti-jug law be enacted and enforced. He contended that this enactment would protect the dry counties and would not injure the wet counties, which do not desire prohibition.

He spoke more directly of the conditions in Augusta, arguing that it was unjust and unfair to pass a prohibition law without due notification to those who are engaged in the business.

Rube Arnold's Speech.

Reuben Arnold, of Atlanta, was next introduced, and said that he represented one-quarter of the taxable property of the state, and desired to speak honestly and fairly against that which he considered to be a rash, hasty and ill-advised measure.

He urged the committee to be conservative and listen to reason. He argued that, while the men who were supporting the measure were good and honest men, they had become fanatics, and did not fully appreciate their position. He said that the prohibitionists were drunk on excitement.

He referred to Maine, Vermont, Iowa and New Hampshire—how prohibition in those states failed to solve the liquor question. He admitted that the prohibition law could be enforced, where there was a strong sentiment against whisky, but when the majority of the people did not desire it, that it would be impossible to enforce the law.

He stated that whisky was not wrong in itself, but the abuse of whisky was wrong.

He argued that prohibition in Atlanta would stop the wheels of progress.

His principal argument was in favor of home-rule, and local option. He argued that in Atlanta the saloons were well regulated, and that the law was enforced.

Would Cripple Hoke Smith.

He stated that the administration of Hoke Smith would be crippled, and that he would begin a new year with $750,000 deficit in the public treasury if the prohibition law should be passed.

He stated that interstate commerce could not be stopped, and that, even though a prohibition law should be passed, whisky would be sent into the state from other states, and Georgia would be wet.

Morris Brandon Against Bill.

Morris Brandon was introduced, and spoke for five minutes against the passage of the bill.

He stated that the bill was not prohibitory against drinking whisky, but against the manufacture and sale of whisky in the state. He argued that the anti-jug law would solve the problem, and urged that the decision be left to Fulton county as to whether she should go dry or not.

Judge Hillyer Talks.

Judge George Hillyer was next introduced, and spoke in favor of the bill.

He prefaced his remarks by saying that he would be perfectly conservative, and speak only simply and fairly.

He said that he was mayor of Atlanta during the time that prohibition reigned in Fulton county, and that from every standpoint Atlanta prospered as she had never done before.

He read from his own message as mayor of the city to the city council in 1887, where he spoke of the very great prosperity of the city of Atlanta during the time of prohibition. He also referred to the address of his successor, Mayor Cooper, whose address verified the statements contained in his own.

He read from the tax records of 1885, and stated that property values increased, not by the assessments being raised, as Mr. Arnold had stated, but the thousands of dollars which went for whisky before, then went to buy furniture and to build homes, and the property values actually increased on the sworn statements of those who paid the taxes, and that the city prospered without a burden on any one.

Walker Dunson for Bill.

Walker Dunson, a real estate dealer, representing the city of Atlanta, spoke next in favor of the prohibition bill. He referred to a letter which he had received from his father while a young man, in which his father asked him to always be honest, true and always stand for the right, and said he, referring to some references of Mr. Arnold to Mrs. Armour and the ministers of Georgia: "I am surprised that there has come in our state a time when a man will stand in this place and make fun of leading ministers and the praying women of Georgia." He said that the whisky business did not help, but injured the real estate business, and those things which caused the real estate business to prosper were good schools and good churches.

Manufacturer for Prohibition.

E. C. Calloway, a representative of the manufacturing interests, spoke in favor of the law, arguing that the prohibition law would benefit the manufacturing interests of Atlanta, the foundation stone of Atlanta's prosperity, and said he: "The only business which will suffer will be the whisky business."

R. A. Broyles for Bill.

R. A. Broyles, a retail grocery merchant, spoke next, and argued in favor of the bill. He said that when a question of right and wrong was considered, that there was no argument to be considered, and that he had no time to count the cost where a great moral principle was involved.

McCord Gives Reasons.

H. Y. McCord, a wholesale grocery merchant, spoke next, and said that he was in favor of the bill.

1. Because it was right.

2. Because it would help all legitimate business in Atlanta.

3. Because not a single business man had opposed the passage of the bill, and finally because he knew that the God of heaven would approve the passage of the bill.

Dr. White Answers Arnold.

Dr. John H. White was next introduced to the committee, and confined his argument as an answer to the speech of Reuben Arnold. He said: "I admire Mr. Arnold very much, and I am very glad that you members of the committee have had an opportunity of hearing our Rube." He said that he wished that he had time to analyze the speech of Mr. Arnold in order that he might pulverize it. "That the speech could be divided in two main divisions," he said; "First, a blast against local option, and second, an exposure of the fact that there is a class of people, an element of population, which will violate the law," and said he: "The liquor traffic is the source of lawlessness." He said that the intelligent people of Atlanta, rank and file, want the general assembly to pass the prohibition law.

Graves Closed Discussion.

J. T. Graves concluded the debate, and made an eloquent appeal in favor of the prohibition law. He said that if righteousness and temperance prevailed, then the people of Georgia would have peace.

He referred to the recent campaigns in Bartow and Lowndes counties, and said: "We are upon the summit of victory, there is a public sentiment behind this bill, prohibition can and will prohibit."

CONTINUOUS MILEAGE BEATEN IN COMMITTEE

The measure of Mr. Flanders, of Johnson, which sought to place on a continuous mileage basis, in so far as freight rates are concerned, all roads in the state under one management, or roads practically owned by the same parties, was argued before the railroad committee yesterday afternoon, and finally reported to the house with the recommendation that it do not pass.

Arguments against its passage were made by Colonel A. R. Lawton, of Savannah, Ga., for the Central railway, and by E. P. Brown, of Atlanta, for the Seaboard line.

ATLANTA EXPERT SECURED

By the City Authorities of Rome for the Appraisement of the Value of Its Waterworks System, Also Supervision of $300,000 Improvements.

The city authorities of Rome, Ga., have engaged the services of Mr. J. N. Hazlehurst, expert hydraulic engineer of Atlanta, for the appraisement of the value of the water works plant of Rome, which has been offered to the city by its owners for $40,000; also the supervision of $300,000 worth of improvements.

The employment of Mr. Hazlehurst indicates that the city authorities are seriously considering the purchase of the plant, which, with the intended improvements will prove adequate for the needs of Rome for many years to come.

ANTI-CIGARETTE BILL REPORTED

House Committee of Alabama Legislature Acts Favorably on Measure.

Montgomery, Ala., July 15.—(Special.)—The house temperance committee has favorably prepared a bill to prohibit the sale of cigarettes in the state. The same bill was recently introduced in the senate.

Gainesville, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—The July term of the Hall superior court convened this morning. Judge J. J. Kimsey presiding; Col. W. A. Charters, solicitor general, reppresenting the state. The grand jury was selected and C. A. Dozier, of Gainesville, elected foreman.

Among the cases to be tried is that of Jim Reed, charged with the killing of Hoke Hunt and Harry Strickland, age 14, who, it will be remembered, caused so much excitement at the last term; and who is charged with having shot and killed his brother, Newt Strickland, age 10. The prominent facts in the Strickland case are that in Fork district, late Saturday afternoon, on February 2, of this year, in a quarrel over a brother, Willie, Harry shot his brother, Newt, in the right leg above the knee with a single-barrel shotgun, which resulted in the death of Newt the next afternoon.

Much interest is manifested in this session of the court and a large number of out-of-town people are here for the week.

ADDITIONAL INDICTMENT FOUND.

Grand Jury After Southern Railway Agents for Charging Excess Rates.

Raleigh, N. C., July 15.—An additional indictment was found today by the Wake county grand jury against the Southern railway ticket agent for selling tickets at a rate in excess of two and a quarter cents per mile in violation of the state law which makes such a sale a misdemeanor. There are two indictments against W. A. Pleasant, at Morrisville, Va., and J. A. Weathers, of Garner, six miles from Raleigh. No action has yet been taken on the indictments against T. E. Green, the tickets agent here.

The tate has retained to assist the solicitor in the cases Governor C. B. Aycock, E. J. Justice, speaker of the house of representatives, and Mayor S. G. Ryan, of Raleigh. This indicates that the case will be pushed despite the injunction granted the railroads by Judge Pritchard, of the federal court.

HARDMAN BILL READ IN HOUSE

Prohibition Measure Now Before Representatives.

LIQUOR NAMED IN TAX ACT

Increased State Licenses Proposed by Ways and Means Committee. Opponents of Prohibition Regarded This as a Favorable Sign.

The Hardman prohibition bill, which was passed by the senate Saturday by the vote of 34 to 7, was read in the house yesterday for the first time. On motion of Mr. Covington it was referred to the temperance committee, and is now in line for action by the house. The house temperance committee met in the hall of the house at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The opponents of prohibition in the house took comfort in the fact that the general tax act for 1908 and 1909, reported by the committee on ways and means, Mr. Wise, of Fayette, chairman, included a tax on the sale of liquor, the license on retail dealers being raised from $300 to $500 and that on wholesalers from $200 to $300. As Mr. Wise is known as an ardent prohibitionist, it was argued by the antis that such a provision in the general tax act showed that the prohibitionists are not absolutely sure of the passage of the Hardman bill as it came from the senate.

There is talk of an amendment to make the bill go into effect January 1, 1909, instead of January 1, 1908, as provided in the Hardman bill. If such an amendment is added to the bill it would be necessary to provide for the state tax on liquor dealers next year.

Another subject touched upon in this tax act, which with a few minor exceptions is the same as that enacted two years ago, has to do with the electric theaters of the state.

The moving picture shows are scattered all over the state and it is estimated that there are easily 1,000 in operation in Georgia. By the terms of this act each of these electric theaters is to be taxed annually $120, or $10 a month.

This will net the state, it is estimated, in the neighborhood of $100,000 per annum, if enacted into a law.

Will Hear Dean Soule.

On Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock the general assembly will meet in joint session in the hall of the house of representatives for the purpose of hearing an address from Professor A. M. Soule, dean of the agricultural school at the University of Georgia. His subject will be, "Agricultural Education."

The house found time to hear a number of new bills read for the first time. Chief among these was that by Mr. Payton, of Worth, seeking to have the general assembly meet biennially instead of annually, as the case now is.

A number of local and general bills were passed by the house, including several resolutions for the payment of pensions.

This brought out a protest from Mr. Hall, of Bibb, who always opposes such procedure. He spoke against this custom again and was the only vote recorded against any resolution. Several members explained their votes for the pension resolutions and claimed the right to change their votes if there was a motion to reconsider, and they found the constitutional contention of Mr. Hall to be in accordance with their views.

An effort was made to have the house meet this morning at 9 o'clock instead of 10, but this effort was defeated and the house meets today at the usual hour of 10 o'clock.

Routine in the House.

Speaker Slaton organized the house at 10 o'clock followed by a prayer from Chaplain Parks, the call of the roll and reading of the journal.

By unanimous consent secured by Mr. Barrow, of Chatham, the following local bills were taken up out of their regular order and passed:

By Mr. Larrow of Chatham—To provide compensation for deputy sheriffs and bailiffs of superior and city courts.

By Mr. Adams of Chatham—To provide fees and charges for magistrates and constables in Chatham county.

By Mr. Barrow of Chatham—To provide compensation for deputy jailers and jail guards.

By Mr. Adams of Chatham—To authorize Savannah to grant to Citizen and Southern bank a strip of sidewalk.

A message was received from the senate announcing the passage of the Hardman prohibition bill by that body by a vote of 34 to 7. The bill was read for the first time and upon the motion of Mr. Covington, of Colquitt, was referred to the committee on temperance.

The joint resolution by Senator Hardman inviting Professor A. M. Soule, dean of the agricultural college at the University of Georgia, to address the general assembly on Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock was read and adopted.

His subject is to be "Agricultural Education." A motion made by Mr. Mundy to meet on Tuesday at 9 o'clock was defeated by a deafening vote of "noes" and the house meets at 10 o'clock.

New Bills in House.

TWO ARE DEAD FROM TRAGEDY

TROUBLE BETWEEN RACES

Shooting Was the Result of Young White Men Going to Negro Festival.

Americus, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Two deaths have resulted from the tragedy at LaCrosse Saturday night and two negroes are tonight in jail at Ellaville, charged with the murder of young Thomas Dixon.

From later reports concerning the tragedy it seems that several young white men, including Dixon, went to a house where negroes were having a festival. Trouble ensued and Dixon was killed, but not before one of the negroes, Roy Baisden, was fatally shot, dying this morning.

APPEAL OF THE TELEGRAPHERS.

Injunction Sought to Prevent Discrimination by Corporations.

Washington, July 15.—The appeal of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers v. the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company was docketed today in the supreme court of the United States. The suit was brought by the telegraphers to secure an injunction under the Erdman act, which prohibits corporations from discriminating against labor organizations. They charge the railroad company with preventing their agents from securing interviews with the railroad operators and with threatening to discharge such of them as join the union, and this course, they assert, is a violation of the law. The decision in the circuit court of western Kentucky was against the telegraphers on the ground of the vagueness of the charge, and they appealed the case.

POSTAL DEFICIT FOR FRANCE.

Great Loss Due to Reduction of the Rate on Letters.

Paris, July 15.—The reduction of letter postage in France last year from 3 to 2 cents has not resulted in the augmentation of mailed letters expected, but has created an enormous deficit which has seriously raised the question as to the advisability of continuing the reform. The diminution in postal receipts from first-class mail matter for the first nine months under the new law is $4,457,280, to which must be added the increased cost of service amounting to $771,720. The increase in the percentage of letters mailed under the reduced rate of postage was less than 10 per cent.

Boy Drowned in a Pond.

Union, S. C., July 15.—Wade Hooker, of Buffalo, S. C., 15 years old, the son of Robert R. Hooker, a well-known Baptist preacher and writer, was drowned yesterday while attempting to swim in the pond at Clifton Mills. A similar accident befell another young son of Mr. Hooker about the same place seven years ago.

No Change of Venue for Hargis.

Lexington, Ky., July 15.—A special from Sandy Hook says that Special Judge Moody today refused to grant a change of venue in the case of Judge James Hargis, who is charged with the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox. The motion was made by the prosecution, who asked that the case be transferred to Breathitt county. Judge Moody overruled the motion and ordered the trial to proceed.

CHAPTER HOUSE FOR CHI PSIS

This Is the Aim of the Atlanta Alumni Organization.

An alumni organization of the Chi Psi fraternity has lately been perfected in Atlanta and a petition filed for its charter as a corporation under the laws of Georgia. The name of the organization is the Alpha Alpha Delta Trust Association, and its chief end in view is the erection of a chapter house for the active chapter of the fraternity at Athens.

The Chi Psi is one of the oldest college fraternities in America. It was founded at Wilson college in 1840 and has ever since occupied a prominent place in the fraternity world. It is principally northern in the location of its chapters, there being only three active chapters in the south. Among the prominent young men comprising its membership are C. W. Davis, J. G. Mays, W. A. Fuller, Virgil Collier, Clarence Bell, T. R. Gentry, Homer Black, J. H. Green and J. M. Holder.

86 DEGREES WAS MAXIMUM

July Is Ahead of the Average in Rainfall.

The highest the mercury went yesterday was 86 degrees, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, after which time there was a sudden drop. Rain fell near East Point, and in the city there was a slight shower.

July thus far has had more than its share of rain, and up todate is one-half an inch ahead of the average. Since the 1st of January, however, there is still a deficit of 8 1-2 inches.

Yesterday appeared to be an unusually cool day for this season of the year, but it was not. The lowest point reached in July is 58 degrees, which was registered in 1882. The maximum has frequently gone as low as 70 degrees during this month.

Takes His Own Medicine.

In Baluchistan when the physician gives a dose he is expected to partake of a similar one himself as a guarantee of his good faith. Should the patient die under his hands the relatives, though they rarely exercise it, have the right of putting him to death unless a special agreement has been made freeing him from all responsibility as to consequences, while if they should decide upon immolating him he is fully expected to yield to his fate like a man.

SPADE LANDS ANOTHER GAME

Battle Produced Scare or Two for Crackers.

Pelicans Scored First; Locals Offset It, and Shortly After Produced Enough to Cinch the Game. Crackers Hit and Fielded Well Throughout.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.

New Orleans in Atlanta, Ponce de Leon park. Game called at 4 o'clock.
Memphis in Birmingham.
Shreveport in Montgomery.
Little Rock in Nashville.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Atlanta 6, New Orleans 3.
Montgomery 8, Shreveport 0.
Birmingham 2, Memphis 1.
Little Rock 5, Nashville 4.

SOUTH ATLANTIC RESULTS.

Savannah 6, Columbia 0.
Jacksonville 5, Charleston 1.
Macon 3, Augusta 1.

Aided and abetted by his team mates, who fielded brilliantly and hit some when safeties were opportune, Bob Spade oeverthrew the Pelicans yesterday, 6 to 3, and thus the long home stay was begun most auspiciously.

Now, to defeat a bunch fashioned after that which C. Frank has this season is no light undertaking, and so the going was marked with a scare or two, one of which arrived in the first round. It always looks bad when the home outfit is scored on in the opener, but the birds' one, made with two hits, wasn't so many, and was still less when the Crackers offset it in their half with a like number of hits.

It was quite a coincidence that the brace of hits produced by each team were of the same caliber, one single and one two-bagger.

It looked ours for keeping in the third, and it is true that the three runs turned up then were enough to stow it away, as later events proved.

Spade Hit as Usual.

Here it was that Bob Spade, the hitting slabman, cracked open a dive for a bag to left, and was sent down a station by Becker's sacrifice. Winters came to the fore with a handy single, and Paskert's three-sacker registered the pair of them. Sid Smith hit to short, and Paskert was safe at the rubber, although Jakey Atz made it a very close call. Jordan singled to left, but Fox hit into a double play, and the inning was done.

New Orleans drew three blanks in a row after the first, but got busy in the fifth with a bunch of three hits, which were food for a couple of tallies.

Gatins shot one at Dyer, and got a hit for it. Bill made a clever stop and Jim Fox an equally as clever stab of the throw, which, in haste, wasn't any too good, but as the fielding was as perfect as it could be under the circumstances, the Pelican second baseman was given one of the things batters like to get. Stratton walked, and that looked bad, but Manuel poked one at Otto, who tagged Stratton and snuffed the pitcher at first. Atz took one in the slats and Joe Rickert tallied Gatins with a single. Jake came in when Nadeau singled, but Lave Cross, who failed to get a hit and drew a misplay, punched one to Castro and Nadeau was out at second.

Cinched the Battle.

That finished the Pelicans, as far as scoring went, and the Crackers cinched the battle in their half of the same inning with a like number of runs.

Becker walked, Winters sacrificed; Paskert singled, and Sid's double scored Becker. It was a drive to right and the ball was relayed to Gatins, who held it while Paskert made a steal of the plate from third, and added another run.

Umps Hackett, who was due to officiate, failed to show up, and Ed Sweenel and Matty Matthews were the judges of the play, both of them putting up good jobs.

Some one who didn't see the game asked if it was much of a going. It was so much as any of them, and a good deal better than some the Crackers have figured in.

AMERICANS TURN THE TABLES.

Wright and Behr Defeat the Australians at Tennis.

London, July 15.—After losing each his single match in the contest of Saturday for the Davis cup, the lawn tennis trophy, Beals C. Wright and Karl Behr, Americans, turned the tables today on the Australian team composed of Norman E. Brooks and A. F. Wilding, and, playing together in the doubles, won one of the hardest contested matches ever witnessed on the Wimbledon courts. The scores were 3-6; 12-10; 4-6; 6-2, and 6-3.

The Australians took the first set with comparative ease, and it was only after the most strenuous playing that the Americans were able to place the second set to their credit. The Australians won the third set, and it looked as though the match cup was out of the reach of the Americans. Wright and Behr then made a great effort, and, tiring out their competitors, had all the best of it in the concluding sets.

To win the Davis cup the Americans must take both their single matches to-m[illegible]

MOGUL'S JUDGMENT BEST AFTER ALL IN MOST CASES

TO show that a manager most always has better judgment than the fans, take the instance of Russell Ford, the Cracker pitcher. This young man didn't look a bit good to the following until he began to work regularly. No, he didn't have a thing but a uniform and a glove. It's funny what a difference a few hours, days and months often make, is an expression that can be worked again right here. Today Ford is one of the mainstays of the staff. He has been weighed in the balances and found all there, with speed, breaks, head, capacity for hard work and the never-say-die spirit. Some of his breaks are wonderful, and his control is hard to beat anywhere.

Bill Smith kept him on the shelf for a long time because he had one of the afflictions that beset Job in his palmiest days—boils, and lots of them. Ford came here suffering from that malady, if it is one, and just now got rid of it. As soon as they were gone he began to pitch and hurled real baseball. It's in him, and while he has to take his bumps now and then like all of them do, it's a safe bet that Ford doesn't stop in a league of this size. He's young yet, and should experience no trouble in keeping it up.

If he loses most of his games, which he promises never to do, he should get a word of encouragement for the spirit he throws into the fray. That counts a whole lot.

The coming of Schopp will help a lot during this home-stay in which we have to do business, for the little fellow has things they can't hammer to all portions of the lot. Rube seems to be out for some time more. The swelling under his arm is going down, but it will be some days yet before he can use his good right. The loss of one of the stellar slabmen at this stage of the game is without any rosy tinge, but, as a rule, the Crackers have had pretty good luck this season in regard to injured men. A few of them have been shot down, but it came one at a time, and that was better than having a whole bunch out at once.

Manager Dick Crozier, of the Augusta club, leads the Tourists in fielding, having made only one error this season. His percentage is .990.

PLAYING GAME IS ART WITHOUT SIGN OF LABOR

(From The St. Louis Republic.)

Baseball is art, not labor. The successful ball player, like the successful artist, pursues his profession because he loves it, not because it pays him. The riches of the world cannot persuade a great painter or a great poet or a great musician to forego his art. If 'tis in him he must paint or play or sing. So it was with Kelly and all the great ball players. They had to play because play was in them. They played ball when ball offered little.

Any man of ordinary intelligence can learn to daub paint, to pound a piano, to put so many feet and so much rhyme in a verse. But few can put life into a canvas and fewer still can drag the spirit from the body and put it into the face in the picture. Any man can play ragtime and hymns well enough, but there comes a Mozart but once in five hundred years. Men may rhyme and string words without end, like Mr. Austin. But the centuries go and come without bringing us a Keats. Pete Browning could not sign his name nor cash a check or connect ten consecutive sensible words on the subject of baseball. But he was an inspired idiot at the bat.

No, the tax-paying, home-keeping, lawn-cutting, roof-mending fellow, the beau ideal of the "good citizen" makes, as a rule, a very dull ball player. He is sound and strong and can catch, and bat, and throw, but he cannot play baseball, because, confound him, he cannot think quick enough.

There's Stone, and Glade, and Hemphill, and Pelty, and the rest of them, all from the farms, handsome, strong, upright, law-abiding young men. They possess all the physical equipment of the ball player. Like Tennyson's imaginary savage offspring, "they can leap and they can run."

There's Howell, born in a city. Never saved a dollar in his life. Never cut a lawn or mended a roof. He is always on the hop. According to Philistine lights, he has not a bit of sense on earth. But he can play more ball inside of his head in a minute than the good citizens, bepraised, sober fellows can play on the diamond in ten years.

So, the matter with the Browns is not hard luck, injury, accident, slow feet, bad pitching or weak batting. It is slow thinking.

ONE GAME PLAYED IN THE BARACA LEAGUE

The Baraca City League met at Piedmont park Saturday with the following results: Capitol Avenue defeated United Brethren in a double-header by the scores of 11 to 3 and 9 to 0.

On account of the rain it was impossible for either team to handle the ball, and the result was that both teams were able to hammer the ball in every direction, although it was impossible for the United team to defeat Capitol Avenue, for that class does things.

The Wesley team and Broughton's Tabernacle did not come together, the Tabernacle bunch not showing up on account of the condition of the weather.

The standing of the league is as follows:

Special for The Atlanta Constitution.

No show on the Warpath of the Jamestown exposition has a larger following of regular visitors than Ferari's Jungle of wild and trained animals. Colonel Ferari, unlike many of the proprietors of animal shows, is himself an old and courageous trainer of the fiercest of beasts, and his body bears many scars in attestation of this fact. It is generally conceded that he has neither an equal or superior in this distinct line of show business. But for years he has abandoned the steel-barred arena and left the work for the younger men and women artists.

In the selection of his tamers and trainers he has invaded all the noted training schools and establishments. From London's great zoos and circusses he brought the Princess Pauline, undoubtedly the world's greatest and most fearless among the women trainers. From Astley's Circus there he gathered and brought to America the intrepid Robert McPhearson, and not content, he robbed it also of Richard Bass—the man who teaches bears and monkeys all the laughable comedy work. From Madrid and the Cirque Nouve, in Paris, comes the beautiful and dashing danseuse and lion tamer, La Belle Selica. Professor Winston, the marvelous trainer of seals is distinctively an American. Goldie, the tamer of hyenas and the treacherous American puma, comes from the Royal Circus and Managerie at Berlin. Kuneo, the trainer of jagauers, is a Hungarian, from the Royal Cirque, at Budapest. All these importations were made in order that the Ferari Jungle should lead the world in trained animal shows. There are acts now being done in his show on the Warpath that have no duplicates in any of the great cities of continental Europe.

McGrath Breaks the Record.

New York, July 15.—Mathew J. McGrath, of New York Athletic Club, broke the world's record for throwing the 16-pound hammer from a 7-foot circle Sunday at Celtic park, his distance being 175 feet 8 inches. If everything turns out to be correct, according to the rules of record making, McGrath's throw will pass away the previous world's mark of 177 feet and 11 inches by John J. Lanagan, made on the same ground on July 31, 1904.

NOTED OUTLAW IN THE TOILS

Harrison Armour, Shadow of Former Self and on Crutches, Caught.

Birmingham, Ala., July 15.—Harrison Armour, a famous desperado, was captured last night near Mount Pinson. When caught he was on crutches, and in his haggard condition bore little resemblance to his former self.

More than three years ago Harrison Armour and his brother, Tom Armour, killed Reuben Little at Morris, Ala., and later it was brought out that they also killed Joe Little, who was barricaded in a store.

They escaped, were trailed over several states, and finally located in the woods near Boaz, Ala. In a desperate fight with officers Tom Armour was killed there, but Harrison again escaped, although injured.

He went to a Chattanooga hospital, was taken to Atlanta, and convicted of grand larceny, and later escaped from the Georgia prison.

The Charming Woman

is not necessarily one of perfect form and features. Many a plain woman who could never serve as an artist's model, possesses those rare qualities that all the world admires; neatness, clear eyes, clean smooth skin and that sprightliness of step and action that accompany good health. A physically weak woman is never attractive, not even to herself. Electric Bitters restore weak women, give strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, beautiful complexion. Guaranteed at all druggists. 50c.

Some Crookedness.

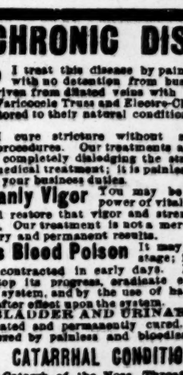

The Mississippi river is so crooked in places, declares Judge Walter Malone, of Memphis, that a steamer going south has been known to meet itself coming north, give passing signals and narrowly escape a collision with itself.

Too Much Curiosity.

A dangerous operation was being performed upon a woman. Old Dr. A., a quaint German, full of kindly wit and professional enthusiasm, had several younger doctors with him. One of them was administering the ether.

JULY COTTON LED IN THE ADVANCE

Market Opened Quiet, But Higher Cables Caused Activity.

August Advanced to Net Gain of 18 Points on Covering of Shorts. Realizing Soon Checked the Advance During the Late Session and Market Eased Off.

New York, July 15.—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today, sales being estimated at 200,000 bales. Fluctutations were irregular, with the close steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 10 points, July showing the maximum gain and the new crop generally unchanged to 4 points higher. The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points on August to a decline of 3 points, the improvement at the beginning of the call being due to higher cbales than expected, while later positions eased off, owing to continued good weather over the week-end. Reassuring cables were received as to the situation in Alexandria, where unsettled financial conditions were said to be the result of overspeculation in real estate, but the market there worked off during the early session to a net loss of about 3@4 points on the active months. This was followed by a rally on southwestern bull support and covering, accompanied by bullish crop report accounts, and August advanced to a net gain of about 18 points on covering of shorts in the absence of offerings, while th enew crop position sold some 7 td 9 points net higher. Realizing checked the advance and the market during the late session eased off from the best under scattered offerings. Southern sopt markets were generally unchanged as compared with Saturday.

Weather reports during the day were considered generally favorable on a favorable weekly report is expected from Washington tomorrow. There was hardly any business in July, but one sale was made as high as 11.75, or 30 points net higher. The close was 11.55 bid.

Dry Goods Market.

New York, July 15.—A large volume of cotton goods is being placed under order for forward delivery by converters and by distributors of printed goods, bleached goods and ginghams. The Indian government report on the condition of jute gives promise of lower-priced jute products for some time to come. Raw silk is lower in this market. Dress goods are more active with jobbers and the supplementary demand for fall goods is large. Prices on all lines hold very firm for current delivery in wool and worsted.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, July 15.—Cotton spots closed steady and unchanged. Middling 12⅞. Sales were 625 bales on the spot with none to arrive. Futures opened steady with the active months ranging from 4 to 5 points below the close Saturday. Clearing weather and favorable crop accounts received over Sunday having a bearish effect. Immediately after the call the market ruled steady, but the presence of some large selling orders subsequently caused weakness and October, after being quoted as high as 12.08, slipped back to 11.95. Weather reports indicating rain and fear of continued increase in the number of the boll weevil offset bearish effect later and caused an advance in values. At the close, which was steady, prices ranged from unchanged to 1 point below the close Saturday.

Liverpool Cotton Market.

Liverpool, July 15.—Cotton spots quiet; prices 6 points lower; American middling fair, 8.12; good middling 7.58; middling 7.08; low middling 6.72; god ordinary 5.98; ordinary 5.38; the sales of the day were 6,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 5,700 American; receipts 2,000 bales, including 1,800 American. Futures opened easy and closed quiet and steady.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, July 15.—The market has been most erratic, alternating in its fluctuations with the varying orders; small offerings on any demand, large offerings on any lack of demand. Very moderate orders moved prices over a considerable range, but the market was without features, beyond those of the local trade. The late bulls were aggressive sellers on any advance and prices played the weathercock. Improved crop reports are cursent, and with the better conditions the confidence of the bulls is undermined. The plant being very small, good weather is most essential, but with it the trade will hardly rank itself in favor of higher prices for any length of time. The trouble in Alexandria was due to land speculation, causing a panic on the stock exchange trade.

Swift & Co.'s sales of fresh beef in Atlanta for the week ending Saturday, July 13, aperaged 6.76 cents per pound.

Carpenter, Baggot & Co.

New York, July 15.—Cables were much better than due, but the local market, as has been its custom of late, refused to follow the lead from abroad and opened unchanged to 3 points decline, soon afterwards selling down to the low prices of Saturday. There was some good buying at the decline, but the market showed little rallying power; later on, however, bullish statements made by southern members just arrived and bidding by the same parties had its influence and prices rallied 12 to 15 points from the bottom. Cotton was offered for sale on the rally pretty freely by the same brokers who recently have been the heavy sellers. This selling seemed fo unsettle confidence and offset the bullish dope so freely given out in the early session by Texas parties on the floor. At the moment consensus of opinion is that crop improvement is progressing and temporary prices will fall to advance materially or permanently, but later on when the plant is nearing maturity and fruiting freely damage will then be more natural from excessive heat or excessive rain and more readily accepted and believed by those who know the plant. Liverpool is due to come July 2½ up, August and September ½ up; other options unchanged.

STOCKS ACTIVE IN FIRST HOUR

But After That There Was Extreme Dullness.

Sudden Animation at Opening Was Due to Favorable Bank Statement and Opinion Formed Toward Harriman Report—Shorts Alarmed.

New York, July 15.—The volatile upshoot of prices of stocks and the furious activity of the trading of the first hour today gave an impression of violent speculative activity and of a stock market revival, such as had not been seen for a long time past. The subsidence of the activity, after that, was so abrupt as to be rather disconcerting to the operators who were attempting to follow the movements. Shares sold in the first hour aggregated 304,000, while for the second hour the total dropped to 78,000 shares. The animation of the early dealings owed something to the surprise of a short interest which had followed the abrupt relapse in the middle of last week and was left uncovered when the favorable bank statement and the opinion formed towards the Harriman report carried prices upward and alarmed the shorts. The recommendations of the interstate commerce commission, accompanying the Harriman report, were regarded as tacit admission that small opportunity existed for making a case against the railroad combination under present laws as theer was no specific plan advanced for criminal prosecution or even for proceedings to disrupt the combination. The assertions in the report of the failure of competition by the lines in the combination was looked on as a plea for additional explanation to cover the case. The immediate influence most feared in the stock market is executive action on unexpected and untried lines, and the more distant prospect of new legislation does not make a pressing appeal to sentiment. The receivership plan for offending corporations remains a much more potent influence on financial sentiment, and the cheerful tone of the early speculation today owed something to a belief that the public reception of the receivership plan lacked enthusiasm. The animation of this cheerfulness was inclined to wane with the first buoyant burst of buying stocks. Sobering considerations were brought forward again. Of these the money market position is most influential. In spite of last week's gain of $6,020,800 in the surplus reserves of the banks, that item stands at only $6,877,050, which is the lowest for this date since 1893; a year with which a comparison is not auspicious. The interior demand for the harvests is too near to make this a comfortable margin on which to undertake any extensive speculative activity, and, in fact, New York exchange dropped abruptly to 50 cents discount at Chicago today. The foreign exchange market last week showed clearly the effect of the efforts of borrowers here to secure resources abroad. This movement seemed to be abandoned today, following the stronger showing of the banks on Saturday, and foreign exchange rates rose briskly.

The absence of French competition for the gold arrivals in the London market again aroused hopes that the Bank of France has completed its desired recuperation. The tone of foreign financial comments shows, however, that money resources are to be conserved there in anticipation of needs for imported foodstuffs in the fall. The holdings of matured government old 4s prove to have been unexpectedly large. This helps to explain not only the tardiness in the presentation of these bonds for redemption, but the strength of the foreign exchange market. Copper fell in London and on the local metal exchange and kept alive anxiety over the stability of that market. Prices held moderately for most of the day, even after the demand had flattened out completely, but the speculative buyers of the morning threw over their holdings in the final hour and the result was a reaction which left most stocks lower than at the close Saturday.

Coffee and Sugar.

New York July 15.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points under some selling by Wall street people in the absence of aggressive support. Havre was closed and other foreign markets showed no special feature. Trading here was very quiet during the middle session, but prices eased off slightly in the first half hour under a renewal of selling believed to be for Wall street long account and some smaller trade interests. The close was steady, net unchanged to 10 points lower. Sales for the day were reported at 27,500 bags, including July at 5.60; December 5.60@5.65; March 5.75; April 5.75 and May at 6.80@5.85.

WHEAT BROKE ABOUT 2 CENTS

At Close September Was Off One and a Quarter.

Favorable Crop Conditions in the Northwest and Reports From Kansas That Crop Will Be Larger Than Estimated Caused the Drop.

Chicago, July 15.—The local wheat market broke 2 cents today because of favorable crop conditions in the northwest. At the close wheat for the September delivery was off 1⅝@1¾c. Corn and oats were each down ⅝c. Provisions were 2½c higher. The market opened firm because of a decrease of 4,064,000 bushels in the amount of breadstuff on passage. Later the market weakened on reports of wet weather in the northwest, and prices dragged all day. Reports from Kansas that the crop will be much larger than had been previously estimated, and the possibility of a strike of the telegraph operators also depressed values. The chief selling was by commission houses, said to be acting in the interest of northwestern concerns. The market rallied from the lo wpoint of the day, but closed weak. September opened ½c llwer to ½c higher at 94⅝c to 94⅞c, declined to 9p⅞c, and closed at 93⅜@⅝c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 155,000 bushels. The visible supply increased 243,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 851,000, against 1,403,000 bushels on the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 591 cars, against 592 last week and 695 a year ago.

Showers and high temperatures throughout the corn belt caused weakness in the corn market. The slump in wheat was also a depressing factor. The market closed weak and close to the low point of the day. September opened ¼@½c lower at 54@54¼c, sold at 54¼, and then declined to 53¾c. The close was at 53⅞c. Local receipts, 255 cars, 23 contract trade.

Ots were weak because of improved weather for the growing crop. Numerous damage reports seemed to have little effect on prices. September opened ⅛ to ¼c lower at 39¾@⅞c, sold between 39 and 40c and closed at 39⅜c. Local receipts 91 cars. Trading in provisions was very light, and the market was steady all day. Buying by local packers offset a decline in the price of live hogs. At the close September pork was up 2½c at $16.35. Lard was up 2½c at $8.97½. Ribs were 2½c higher at $8.65.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat 58 cars; corn 395 cars; oats 149 cars; hogs 19,000 head.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.

FARM AND INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES ON THE SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.

SOAPSTONE DEPOSITS: Embracing approximately forty acres, within thirty-eight miles of Atlanta and very conveniently located with reference to transportation facilities. These deposits will yield good size blocks or slabs. The material saws easily, which insures minimum quarry expense. Samples can be seen at our offices.

MICA DEPOSIT: Embracing about twenty acres. The indications are exceptionally good, but it would be necessary to make some additional openings before the full extent and value of the deposits can be determined. Property is nicely located for shipping. The enormous demand for this material and the high prices prevailing for both the sheet and scrap should make this opportunity very inviting.

LOCATION FOR PHYSICIAN: In a middle Georgia town, the only physician and surgeon, on account of age, desires to retire from a practice which has required many years to build up. His home consists of eighty acres of fine land, with an eight-room two-story residence, barn, stables, etc. The residence is practically new. Titles perfect. Price $2,500, with reasonable terms.

LOCATION FOR FARMER AND FRUIT GROWER: 265 acres, 1 1-2 miles from our main line, and same distance from a good town. 40 acres of beautiful valley land. 140 acres in cultivation, balance pasture and timber. 2,000 peach trees, 100 pears, and other fruit. A first-class nine-room two-story dwelling, three tenant houses, barn, store house, etc. Price $20 per acre.

WE WANT TIMBER: A tract of sweet gum or red gum, on or within three miles of our line, for a crate and box manufacturer, who would establish a very large plant, employing high-class labor. This proposition should therefore interest any community on the Seaboard where the materials can be secured. For additional information concerning these or other profitable opportunities for investment, and for literature and property lists, call on or address Seaboard Industrial Agency.

THE BEST TRACT OF TIMBER BETWEEN ATLANTA AND BIRMINGHAM IS FOR SALE.

ONE THOUSAND, two hundred acres of virgin pine and hardwood. Pine predominates, but there is also a magnificent growth of white oak and poplar, with a sprinkling of fine hickory. The timber is very long bodied, and averages well in diameter. On a little more than one acre, we counted 280 large pine trees which would easily cut 250,000 feet. The property will average between six and seven thousand feet to the acre, plus 500,000 oak crossties. The land is perfectly level, and after timber is removed will make one of the best stock, grain and cotton farms in the entire valley. Additional timber adjoins this and can also be secured. There is no plant manufacturing sash, doors, blinds, flooring, etc., between Atlanta and Birmingham, and this timber should prove especially inviting to a concern of that nature. Price $20 per acre in fee.

ALABAMA PROHIS GETTING ACTIVE

Bills Introduced to Regulate Sale of Whisky.

LIQUOR INTERESTS WORRIED

Alabama Legislature Is Handling the Question of the Control of the Sale of Whisky in the State—Prohibition Bill May Be Introduced.

Montgomery, Ala., July 15.—(Special.) These are perilous times fo rthe liquor interests of this state and a slip may result in their being almost put out of the state.

A bill has been passed in the senate to make all saloons close up early. Those in towns of 10,000 and less at 7 p. m.; over that of 15,000 at 8 p. m., and over that at 9 p. m. Another bill is favorably reported to prevent shipment of liquors into prohibition territory.

Already bills have been passed for dispensaries in many of the counties and a local option bill that can be used to put the business out of any county in four weeks by vote.

There is also a feeling that if the liquor men make too big a row about what has been done and in course of action there will be a straight prohibition proposition to put the whole thing out of the state. The effect of the adoption of a prohibition law by the senate of Georgia has had the effect of getting the local solons busy. Senator John Lusk, who is the leader in the upper house and right in line with the dominant element, said today that he had a prohibition bill in his pocket and it would come out if there was any row made.

The liquor men are putting up the fight of their lives; in fact, for their lives. They are first going to try to get the closing hour in the larger cities moved up to 11 o'clock. Failing in that they will try to prolong the movement to the end of the session. However, the sentiment of the legislature is about 80 per cent against whisky in any form and a little circulation would set the whole thing on its heels and the state would go tumbling after Georgia, like sheep after their leader.

PROHIBITIONISTS BUSY IN MACON

May Be Local Election in Case the State Movement Fails.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—It is generally conceded that a great deal of the strength which has been given the movement for state prohibition came from Macon, and it is now claimed that, in the event of the loss of the state measure, the fight will be taken up immediately in Bibb with a view of securing an election.

People who favor prohibition here claim that Bibb county would go dry should an election be called, and many people believe that the fight would prove a very close one. It is very certain that the people of Macon will be called upon by the prohibitionists if they lose in their fight in the legislature.

Negro Held Under Three Charges.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Will Dent, a railroad employee, was sent up from the police court this morning under three charges of larceny, after having been proven the guilty party in the removal of three watches from as many persons while they slept. Dent had a mania for stealing watches from his fellow workers while they slumbered. The old method of watching the pawnshops proved his undoing today, and he was committed to jail for having stolen three watches, and later pawned them. All the watches were recovered.

Kinley Woman to Get Hearing.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Julia Kinley, the white woman held in connection with the killing of Arthur Dyche, has been turned over to Sheriff Robertson, and now occupies a cell in the county jail. She will be given a commitment trial in Justice Brown's court tomorrow, and will then make an effort to show that she has no knowledge of the affair for which she is held.

Short Session of Court.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Juries were drawn in superior court here this morning and after a brief morning session Judge Felton declared a recess until Thursday morning. The juries will return to take up work in the criminal branch on Monday, July 29. There will be little work in the session other than the criminal business, which has already been arganged for hearing. Solicitor General William Brunson will be at his post of duty this term, having improved from his recent illness so that he is now in fine condition to take up the work of the session.

Death Cheated Officers.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—United States Deputy Marshal Frank Riley is again the loser in the matter of a reward for Smith Williams, the negro whose life he saved when he rescued him from drowning in the Ocmulgee river several nights ago. This time death intervened and when the officer found his man he was beyond the reach of all pursuers. Smith Williams had died from pneumonia, probably caused by his hard experience in the waters of the river. There was a $50 reward in one of the Georgia convict camps from which Williams had escaped.

Big Revival in Monticello.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Rev. T. R. Best, pastor of the Vineville Presbyterian church, and T. S. Lowry left today for Monticello, where they go to take up the work in a revival, which will last ten days, with the Presbyterian church in that city. Rev. Mr. Best will do the preaching and Mr. Lowry will have charge of the music.

Bids for Lighting Macon.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Bids from the Macon Railway and Light Company and from the Bibb Power Company for lighting the city for the next four years will be submitted to the city council at tomorrow night's session. The figures of both concerns will be noted with interest. It is the first time in the history of Macon that two concerns competed for the lighting privileges Members of council are much inerested. The new power company desires to sell the electricity to the city at certain price and allow the city authorities to utilize it to their own purposes.

Committee Investigate Taxes.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—The special license and tax committee of the city council met this afternoon for the purpose of considering the communication of Ben L. Jones with regard to the back taxes on the property of the Macon knitting mills and the Bibb Manufacturing Company. A report will be made to the session of council tomorrow night. It is said that the services of two well-known Macon attorneys have been retained by the mover in the effort to collect a large amount of alleged back taxes against the mills. It is very probable that the committee will recommend some changes.

Much Work in Macon Streets.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—The street committee of the city council has succeeded in getting in some very fine work during the past two months in Macon. There are three squads of prisoners working, and the labor has been done to the very best advantage. Many ugly streets have been made smooth and beautiful, and not in many seasons has there been evidence of such improvement.

The city public works is proving a valuable factor in the street work and the improvements come cheaper when the offender is made to perform the labor than when free labor is hired at a high price.

New Real Estate Concern.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—Among the applications for charter in the superior court this morning was one passed upon for the Minton-Morgan Company, real estate dealers. J. Fabian Minton and R. C. Morgan, two young business men, are the promoters, and their plans have been made to launch a big enterprise. Their charter was granted.

New Coca-Cola Concern.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—A charter was granted the Quincy Coca-Cola Company in the superior court here this morning. The promoters are Herbert F. Haley, T. C. Parker and R. I. Stevens. The principal business is that of bottling drinks. The new concern will have headquarters in Macon, but will operate extensively throughout the state.

MRS. MARY ARMOUR TO SPEAK TO WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Harris Armour will speak to women at the Wesley Memorial church tonight at 8 o'clock. This promises to be one of the largest meetings for women since the temperance campaign in Atlanta began.

Mrs. Armour is always interesting and announces that she has a special message to members of her own sex. She urges that a large attendance be on hand. Good music will precede the address.

RESIGNATION REFUSED BY IMMANUEL BAPTIST

Rev. C. A. Cowan may not leave Atlanta for the pastorate of the Montgomery church which recently called him and the pastorate of which he accepted.

The members of his congregation at a meeting recently held passed resolutions declining to accept his resignation and appointing a committee to take up the matter of his call from the Montgomery church. This committee will write the Montgomery church and ask them to withdraw the call.

There has never been a mor popular or faithful pastor in Atlanta, and his congregation have been loyal to him to the last degree. They are now determined that he shall not leave.

The Immanuel church under his pastorate has grown from a few hundred to over 500 membership and is still growing rapidly.

When seen, Mr. Cowan declined to talk for publication, but stated that he was aware of the action which the church had taken.

If you demand a good whiskey you generally get it—otherwise you don't. Good whiskey is beneficial to mankind.

Always specify the brand. Get acquainted with a good brand. Make it your point to meet old MARK ROGERS, the brand of good whiskey that's served at all good places.

MARK ROGERS is a whiskey made for men who appreciate something just a little better—it's old, mellow and pure. It builds you up; and the flavor is delightful.

No better whiskey made. All good places sell it—but you'll have to ask for it. It costs the dealer more.

RAIN DELAYS TENNIS TOURNEY

Three Matches Were Played in Augusta Tournament Yesterday.

Augusta, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—The opening matches of the annual tournament of the South Atlantic Tennis Association were played late this afternoon, rain delaying the starting of the contests. The results were as follows:

Ridgely over Jim Dawson, 6-4, 7-5; Harper over Verdery, 6-4, 6-3; Plunket over Fleming, 6-1, 61-1.

The men's singles will be finished today and then the ladies' singles and the men's doubles will be taken up in the order named. Despite the inclement weather a large audience witnessed the playing today and considerable enthusiasm was evinced. The sets between Ridgeley and Dawson were the best played and the most exciting seen in Augusta courts in years.

HANDSOME SOUVENIRS OF CHICAGO DINNER

Handsome souvenirs have been received in Atlanta of the dinner given by the Chicago Credit Men's Association on the evening of Friday, June 14, in Chicago, to the delegates and visiting members of the National Association of Credit Men and their lady friends.

The souvenir is in the shape of a Roycroft volume, with flexible leather backs of green shade. It bears on the front outside cover a steel engraving of the old block house and light house, the last remnants of Fort Dearborn, as they appeared in 1857.

The following toast to Atlanta is published on the page bearing the inscription of Atlanta's seal and the signature of Mayor W. R. Joyner:

"To Atlanta—The pride of the Empire state of the south; she sits like a queen on the old red hills of Georgia. To the city which typifies the new south, the south of pulsating factories and magnificent commercial enterprises. To Atlanta, whose air is like champagne."

This attractive volume is the work of John D. Mahin, of Chicago.

PROFESSOR W. H. SLATON REquests that all applicants for positions as teachers in the public schools present themselves for examination at the Boys' High school upon the mornings of Monday and Tuesday, July 21 and 22, at 8:30 o'clock, at which time examinations will be held by him at that place.

THE VOTERS OF THE SIXTH WARD held a meeting at the Wesley Memorial church last night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of effecting an organization in the interests of the Fulton County Anti-Saloon League. After prayer by Rev. G. A. Beatty, A. W. Farlinger was elected chairman, and J. E. Willham, secretary. A committee was appointed to obtain the names of one hundred sixth ward voters from whom twenty-five should be chosen as a permanent executive committee. Much enthusiasm was aroused by short talks made by Drs. Landrum and Beatty, Senator Johnson and Professor Fields. The meeting was adjourned to meet again Friday night at 8 o'clock.

THERE WILL BE A RALLY AT the Capitol Avenue Baptist church Friday night in the interest of prohibition under the direction of the second ward committee of the Fulton County Anti-Saloon League. A number of prominent speakers will be on hand.

THE DETECTIVES' OFFICE HAS since Saturday night been investigating the murder of Will Glass, a negro, who was stabbed to death in a saloon at the corner of Decatur and Ivy streets, and yesterday more evidence against Will Jones was secured. The detectives also arrested Clarence Reynolds, another negro, yesterday afternoon.

JOHN DANIEL, A NEGRO 23 YEARS old, who was indicted by the grand jury of Fulton county at the March term for the alleged rape of Corie Adams, a negro girl, about 20 years of age, was arrested yesterday afternoon near the state capitol by Officers Covington and Bentley. The negro was placed in the county jail after his arrest. The alleged rape is said to have occurred at Armour, a few miles from Atlanta, on the Southern railway, during February last. Daniel said yesterday that he had been in Atlanta about five weeks.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA.

Charlie Allen v. State, from Henry. Submitted.

B. G. Adams et al. v. State, from Haralson. Argued.

It Was All Right.

(From the San Francisco Chronicle.)

They had evidently been quarreling before entering the Sutter street car at the ferry.

"I would thank you, Mr. Johnson, not to sit by me!" she said icily.

"Oh, Lucy, I'll never go with her again—never, never, dearie!"

Gradually the harsh tones melted to soft, endearing phrases. The car had become very crowded. It stopped at Van Ness.

The conductor, wedging among passengers midway of the aisle, could not see the rear steps. With his hand on the bell cord, he suddenly yelled:

"How is it back there now?"

"It's all right. We've made up again," impulsively responded the young man.

"Oh, Willard, he didn't mean us!"

Early Pottery.

One of the principal territories of the potters for centuries was Kingte Chin, the finest pieces being made during the Ming dynasty. It is stated that the fine specimens were made with so much care that out of 200 pieces they would sometimes destroy 199. It is recorded in 1615 that a titled man in Japan had one of his attendants of rank whipped for breaking a cup and then sent to China at his own expense to buy another.

The Return.

(From The Independent.)

Magistrate—What! Do you mean to say your husband struck you, and he that physical wreck?

Mrs. Maloney—Yes, yer honor, but he's only been a physical wreck since he struck me.
